

Record Makes Georgia Slight Favorite Over Tech Saturday

Bulldogs Show Most Victories

Georgia team. The Bulldogs are not about like a bright spring day. Athens is getting excited not that it is possible to get out of the house and have room to be excited in. Before today three or four people were frozen trying to be excited. The excitement was here all along, it was just indoors.

Chick Meehan, coach of the New York University football team, is in Athens. He came here instead of Atlanta. He is to be the recipient of several parties in his honor.

PEP MEETINGS.

At the university they are having warm-up pep meetings for the big blow-off on Friday night. Meehan, Biff Jones, Bill Roper and Bob Zupke and others are scheduled to speak and a big time is to be had by all.

Chick Meehan spoke in a very non-partisan fashion, saying he believed it would be a very close game. Meehan saw Tech beat California last New Year's Day and he can't believe the Jackets won't be out there with a good football team and they will, of course.

That is why the Georgia coaches are moaning at the encouraging reports sent out by the college correspondents who, never the less, seem to be right for once. Georgia does look good.

Record Favors Bulldog Team.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 5.—The keen interest displayed in the Georgia Tech-Georgia game indicates that another great crowd will visit the new University of Georgia stadium Saturday. While the records of the two teams indicate that the Georgia team will rule favorite, comparisons of this sort are valueless in forming an opinion about the outcome when these two great rivals meet in any field of sport. Both teams are certain to be at the height of effectiveness, as both teams have displayed great improvement in their last games played. Georgia Tech, with a new offense, defeated Auburn, 19 to 0, on Thanksgiving Day, while Georgia was upsetting the dope in Alabama with a 12-to-0 victory over Alabama.

In comparing the scores made against similar opponents, the following results establish the contention that the figures can lead to no definite conclusions: Georgia Tech lost to North Carolina, 19 to 7, while Georgia defeated the Tarheels the following week, 19 to 12; Georgia Tech defeated Florida, 19 to 6, but the Florida Gators overcame Georgia by the same score; Tulane was victor over both Georgia Tech and Georgia, winning 20 to 14, to both institutions, and defeating the latter, 21 to 15, the margin of victory being identical; Alabama defeated Georgia Tech, 13 to

LINEMEN LEAD AS CAPTAINS

Survey of Elected for Next Season Proves Forwards Popular.

By L. S. Cameron.
United News Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(United News.)—Linemen have won the call over backs in competition for college football captaincies, a survey made by the United News showed today.

Taking a group of 40 colleges of varying importance, located in widely scattered sections of the country, it was found that 15 teams have selected backs to lead them in 1930, while 25 have chosen linemen.

Time was when a line-playing captain was as rare as a one-armed pole-vaulter, but some years ago the shift to the line set in and the practice has been continued.

FORMERLY QUARTER.

It used to be that the quarterback was the captain, almost without exception. Of a group of 15 backs chosen to be 1930 team captains, four are quarterbacks, two are fullbacks, and nine are halfbacks.

Tackles and ends hold the lead among line captains. Out of 25 choices, eight are tackles and eight are ends. Six are guards and three are centers.

Many of the teams have not yet selected captains for next season. Some teams have games to play and will not be a ballot until after their seasons end. An example is Army. The Cadets will elect a captain on the night of the Stanford game in California.

Other teams defer voting until mid-

Artillery Leads Tech Court Teams

Winning seven of their eight games—taking the final fray from the Ordnance team Thursday night as a forfeit after they had breezed through their season following their first game—the Coast Artillery quintet of the Battalion Basketball League at Georgia Tech has been accorded the leading title claim of the loop.

The season opened several weeks ago. Five teams were entered, each playing two games with each of the other squads. The Coast Artillery, led by H. and K. Payne and under the coaching of Jack Warner, dropped their opener but found themselves in their second game and went on to win all the others.

The Navy and the Infantry quintets, each with two losses on their records, tied for second place.

LOOP WRITERS ARE ORGANIZED

Southern League Association Is Formed at Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 5.—Baseball writers of the Southern league will stand or fall together. They got together here today when the Southern League Baseball Writers' Association was formed with a membership of 39 as a starter.

"Zipp" Newman, sports editor of the Birmingham News, who conceived the idea of the association, was unanimously voted president; Bob Phillips, sports editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald, was named secretary.

One of the things discussed at the meeting was the promulgation of more uniform scoring rules in the league. The following members were admitted:

Birmingham: Zipp Newman, Bob Phillips, John Putnam, Harold Culen, Jerry Bryan and Henry Vance.
Memphis: Herbert Caldwell, Bob Pigue, David Bloom, Naylor Stone and George Bugbee.
Chattanooga: Bill Clift, Bill Harris, E. T. Boles.
Mobile: G. J. Flournoy, Barney Sheridan.
Atlanta: Ralph McGill, Ed Danforth, Morgan Blake, O. B. Keeler, Guy Butler, George Stickler, Jimmy Burns and Hoke Welch.
Little Rock: Henry Loesch and Allen Tilden.
New Orleans: Fred Digby, Charles DuFour, Bill Keefe, Harry Martinez, Val Flanagan and George Rolfe.
Nashville: Blinkey Horn, Ralph Perry, Freddie Russell, Lewis Little, Bill Rollow and Raymond Johnston.

Mercer To Stay In Association

MACON, Ga., Dec. 5.—(P)—At a meeting of the Mercer athletic board it was decided that Mercer would not join Furman and Oglethorpe in leaving the S. I. A. A. at the present time. However, the board adopted a resolution which stated that Mercer would be the aggressor in forming a new conference of from 10 to 12 colleges.

C. B. Wray, athletic director, said that Mercer is a member of the American Association of Colleges, which requires all of its members to belong to some athletic conference.

Georgia Tech will probably have an edge in the kicking game because of Mizell's ability and consistency. Mizell is rated as one of the best punters in the south this year, and Georgia will have to be able to out-gain Georgia Tech on running plays to make up this disadvantage. If Chandler should be able to duplicate his punting performance of the Alabama game, Georgia may be able to play its opponent even in this department. Georgia and Tech both are in great condition for this game and should be able to throw their greatest strength into the fray. A spirited game with exceptional defensive efforts is certain to result.

Boys' High, Madison Meet Today in Semi-Finals of G. I. A. A.

Lanier To Battle G. M. C. at Macon

Winners in Games Today Will Play for 1929 G. I. A. A. Championship.

By Roy White.

Atlanta's bid for the 1929 Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic Association football championship will be made at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spiller field, when Boys' High will meet Madison Aggies, from Madison, Ga. The two teams were selected by Frank Anderson, director of athletics of Oglethorpe University and arbiter for the G. I. A. A., as the outstanding teams in the northern division of the association.

At the same time today in Macon, Lanier will meet Georgia Military Academy, of Milledgeville, for the championship of the southern division and the semi-final winners will meet later to decide the state high school championship.

PURPLE IS BEST. Boys' High had the best record in this section. The Hurricane went through the season with five victories, four ties and no defeats. Madison Aggies had six victories and two defeats, while Tech High had four victories and three defeats.

The Purple Hurricane has enjoyed one of its most successful seasons. The material early in September was more plentiful than ever before, although there appeared to be no real stars in the camp. Coach R. L. (Shorty) Doyal, a former Georgia Tech lineman of the famous 1917 team, has worked hard and faithfully all season to give Boys' High its best season.

The Hurricane started off well, but after two games the team slumped slightly and did not play well together. In the fourth game of the season Coach Doyal used practically a scrub team against Rome High and the results proved successful for the varsity played a much better game during the remainder of the season.

GOOD FOOTBALL. In the past four games Boys' High has played good football in all departments, although three ties were marked up. The tie games were against the best prep teams in Georgia and Alabama.

Madison has enjoyed one of its best seasons also. Coach Wallace Butts, a former All-S. I. A. A. end from Mercer, has an excellent passing and running combination in his backfield. His team defeated G. M. A., 15 to 6, at College Park early in the season and has improved considerably since that game. Three of the Madison victories have been due to an effective and manager of the Fort Smith club of the Western association, succeeding Johnny Cimpi, who has been the manager.

Chattanooga acquired the services of Joe Marty, a pitcher, from Hollywood.

New Orleans traded Dave Danforth, veteran left-handed pitcher, to Dallas for Whitey Glazier, pitcher.

The Danning, catcher, who played with New Haven last year but was the property of the St. Louis Browns, was sold to Baltimore.

Little Rock sold a battery to Reading, Ernie Woolfolk, pitcher, and Rod Whitney, catcher.

LANDIS ATTACK. The baseball commissioner delivering the principal address at the annual banquet, launched a vigorous attack on "common ownership" in baseball. Mr. Landis declared that he was not particularly concerned about the responsibility but recognized the evils and its perils. He said that since his arrival in Chattanooga he had heard of minor league clubs scheming to get major leagues to take them in their fold, so certainly the responsibility was divided.

The commissioner suggested that unless a remedy is found, all minor league baseball leagues will be doomed. "We must solve the problem of the little fellows," he said.

Bussell ownership shall be individual, he said, with one interest owning one club.

In the late trading as the convention neared its close, Tulsa, of the Western league, sold four players, making a complete infield in a body, to Wichita Falls, of the Texas league.

The quartet was made up of Irving Burns, first baseman; Lindo Storti, second baseman; James Levey, shortstop, and Walter Fuller, third baseman.

ST. PAUL PURCHASE. St. Paul bought one second baseman tonight and sold another. Jack Saltzger was purchased from Oklahoma City, while Ray Morehart was sold to the Columbus club of the American association.

Reading of the International league bought the contract of A. A. Phillips, a pitcher, from the Fort Worth club of the Texas league.

Jack Smith, the former major league outfielder, signed a contract with Kansas City.

Clubs Busy With Deals.

CHATTANOOGA, Dec. 5.—Virtually all the Southern league clubs took part in the general trading among baseball magnates here today.

New Orleans secured Whitey Glazier from Dallas, Texas league, for Pitcher Dave Danforth. This means the passing of the pitcher and his disputed delivery from the Southern.

Birmingham bought Eddie Taylor, shortstop, from Toledo, to take the place of Smith, drafted by the Cincinnati Reds. Jimmy Horn was returned to Nashville, of the Colts, which recalled Nicolai from Little Rock.

Chattanooga bought Pitchers Wilburn Hubbell from the Pacific Coast league, and Pitcher Joe Marty from Hollywood, of the same league.

Nashville purchased Pitcher Harry Bennett from Independence, of the Western association.

Kid Elberfeld signed as manager of the Springfield, Mo., team of the Western association, from the St. Louis Browns. This is expected to lead to a coach's job with the Browns.

Oregon, Florida Move on Miami

Oregon and Florida football teams moved on Miami Thursday night where Saturday they will clash in the big Madison Square Garden stadium in the day's only intercollegiate game in the south.

The Webfoot and Alligators traveled south from Jacksonville on the same train. Tomorrow they will take their final workouts on the scene of Saturday's battle.

Meanwhile disquieting news came from Athens where Georgia's Bulldogs are preparing for their annual battle for blood with Georgia Tech.

Georgia freshmen, armed with Georgia Tech plays, rang up two touchdowns against the Bulldog varsity in big time. Passes were used to score both markers and Coach Harry Mehre is redoubling his efforts to bolster his defense against overhead maneuvers.

Tradition will be at stake at Durham, N. C., where North Carolina and Duke meet in the principal game scheduled for the northern end of the conference.

The Chapel Hill Tarheels have never been defeated by Duke since football was resumed at the latter school. Both teams are reported in first-class trim for a hard game.

The South Carolina Gamecocks, their preparations behind them, prepared to entrain at Columbia for Knoxville where they tackle Tennessee's powerful Volunteers in the last game of the season for both teams.

Maryland, the only other conference team scheduled, takes on its old rival, Western Maryland, in the Baltimore stadium.

Oregon Off For Encounter.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 5.—(P)—Following a show, secret workout at the Municipal stadium, the Oregon Webfoots, 28 strong, left here tonight aboard a special train for Miami where on Saturday they engage the University of Florida Gators in an intercollegiate gridiron classic.

Three coaches filled with members of the Florida team, coaches and fans, were picked up by the special train at East Palatka and the two aggregations continued the journey together to the Magic City.

The Oregon team, which arrived here yesterday from the west coast, went through light public drill at the stadium yesterday, but today the practice was strictly secret.

A banquet was tendered to the Webfoots early tonight and afterward the team, headed by Coach John J. McEwan, was escorted to the railroad station by a committee of city officials and other civic leaders.

Both teams expect to go through their final practice in Miami tomorrow.

Duke Tackles W. & L. Washington and Lee and Duke will start a series of Thanksgiving Day games next year.

McPherson Loop Begins Season

The 1929-1930 basketball season was ushered in at Fort McPherson when the Post Basketball League opened its schedule with a bitterly contested game between Headquarters Company and Service Company 22nd Infantry, which Headquarters won, 20 to 13.

There are nine teams in the league and the competition this year promises to be much keener than it has ever been. Two games, the first beginning at 7:15, will be played every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening in the gymnasium at the fort.

Indiana's Loss. Indiana loses 14 men from the varsity, nine of them from the line.

Fencing Exhibition Pleases Atlantans

Atlanta's basketball fans who attended the G. M. A.-Cuban game at the Tech gym Wednesday night received a pleasant surprise as members of the Vedado Tennis Club, of Havana, put on an exhibition of fencing before the game.

The fans enjoyed the bout so much and have said so much about it that plans have been made to stage another exhibition preceding the football game tonight on Grant field between the cadets and the Cuban Athletic Club team.

Ripson's Record. Ripson is champion of the Big Four of Wisconsin and tied for second in the Midwest conference.

Charlottesville Kids Win, 27-0

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Dec. 5.—(P)—The fives of Charlottesville maintained their claim to the national hundred-pound football championship this afternoon with a 27-0 victory over the Kent (Ohio) Bearcats, in a game played at the University of Virginia.

The Virginians outplayed the visiting champions of the mid west in every department, gaining 16 first downs and holding the Ohio boys without a first down gain during the play.

Two touchdowns were scored in the first period by Captain Davis, of the Fives.

Wildcats Pick Forquer for Boss

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 5.—(United News.)—L. G. "Floppy" Forquer, 212-pound guard from Newcastle, Ky., was elected captain of the 1930 University of Kentucky gridiron squad at the annual banquet and gabfest here tonight.

Twenty-five varsity letters were awarded members of the football squad. Forty-one freshmen received numerals.

Indiana's "B" Team. In the Big Ten each institution has a "B" team. The Indiana "B" team won the conference championship.

Moultrie Bows To Thomasville

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Dec. 5.—Thomasville High school won, 28 to 13, today from Moultrie High, in the first game teams of these two schools have played against each other in several years.

In the first quarter Thomasville registered a touchdown on a 15-yard pass, 25-yard run and went across the line with straight football.

Losses. Ohio State lost some football games this past season and the band lost $1,000 worth of equipment to thieves.

Hagen, Diegel Advance to Semi-Final Round of P. G. A. Meet

FARRELL WINS HARD BATTLE ON 37TH HOLE

Smiling Johnny Comes From Behind To Eliminate Craig Wood.

By Russell J. Newland.
Associated Press Sports Writer.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Over the knolls and valleys of Hill Crest today raged the two "greyhounds" of the field—Lee Diegel and Walter Hagen—to turn in decisive victories in the National Professional Golfers' Association championship matches. However, the real golfing thrills of the game came from a former open title holder who fought his way out of the shadows of defeat to stay in the running.

While Diegel, defending champion, and Hagen, chief challenger, were sailing through their easy third round of 36-hole match play, Smiling Johnny Farrell, of New York, met and matched a stern golfing test, to come from behind and nose out Craig Wood on the 37th.

FAR DOWN.
Trailing from the start of the morning's round, Farrell was 2 down at the 18th and in the same position at the 27th. On the 31st, Wood stymied his opponent to win the hole and go into a 2-up lead. With the score 3-up and 5 to play, the gallery of several thousand persons sensed victory for the Bloomfield, N. J., youngster, but instead, Farrell was treated to a "comeback" as spectacular as any witnessed on this course.

Farrell won back the 32nd and 33rd, halved the 34th and squared the match on the 35th. The 36th was halved and Farrell's birdie 3 on the 37th clinched a great win and brought a tremendous ovation from the throng of spectators who had followed him through 2 grueling rounds.

Diegel and Hagen clubbed their way to the semi-finals without much effort. Gene Sarazen, of New York, a former open champion, fell a victim to Diegel's shots, 3 and 2, while Hagen disposed of Tony Manero, of New York, 6 and 3.

The finals Saturday will produce a national titleholder in the "pro" ranks but the golfing classic of the week will be carved into the fairways of the Hill Crest layout tomorrow.

RIVALS MEET.
Keenest rivals in a field of stars, Diegel and Hagen will renew a golfing duel that last year saw Hagen's hopes for a sixth P. G. A. championship shattered in the third round. Diegel won and continued on to capture the title. Fates of the draw placed the pair in the lower bracket this year and tomorrow they will match strokes for the right to enter the finals. It will be their fourth meeting in P. G. A. competition. Hagen won in the first two matches and the Agua Caliente (Mexico) professional came out on top in 1928.

In the upper bracket, Farrell will oppose Al Watrous, Detroit, tomorrow. Watrous worked his way into the semi-finals by defeating Al Espinosa, Chicago, today, 2 up.

Iowa's Climb.
In 1902 Michigan beat Iowa 107 to 0, the year before 50 to 0. Recently they played 0 to 0.

The SPORTLIGHT

The Winter League.

Another oldtimer wants to know whether an all-star team made up of those who starred before 1910 would have a chance against a ball club made up of those who broke into the game later on.

Being neither an old timer nor yet a freshman, as one might say, it all gets down to a matter of poking into the dope. Here would be a pretty fair team of those who starred before 1910:

Catcher—Johnny Kling, Chicago Cubs.

Pitchers—Mathewson, N. Y.; Johnson, Washington; Walsh, Chicago; Waddell, Philadelphia.

First base—Chase, New York.

Second base—Lajoie, Cleveland.

Shortstop—Wagner, Pittsburgh.

Third base—Jimmy Collins, Boston.

Outfield—Cobb, Detroit; Speaker, Boston; Sheckard, Chicago.

There is no team that has come along since that could beat this outfit. There are no pitchers who could even come close to the general and continued effectiveness of the four named.

No first basemen has come along to equal Hal Chase. No shortstop has come along to even approach Hans Wagner, a ball player still rated by John McGraw and many others as the best all-around ball player that ever lived, or at least the most valuable.

Lajoie will do well enough at second and no third baseman has stepped in to take the crown away from Jimmy Collins. Cobb, Speaker and Sheckard speak for themselves.

The best ball player since 1910 is Babe Ruth—and there is none better. Alexander, Vance, Penneck and Grove would probably be the best four pitchers. Eddie Collins arrived around 1908 but he wasn't a star until 1910. The bunch who came along before 1910 had the call. Most of them were still starting ten years later—some of them as late as 1925.

Concerning Schedules.

Schedules arranged last winter failed to work out as predicted. Some were tougher than they looked—others much softer.

Notre Dame looked to have the toughest schedule of the lot but several teams on the list that were strong last season happened to be weak last fall—namely Georgia Tech, Indiana and Wisconsin who lost most of their games—twelve or thirteen all told.

Carnegie Tech was also far below last season's form. The Navy, in its first four big games, failed to win a start. The same was true of the Army against Harvard, Yale and Illinois.

Iowa came close to having the toughest schedule in the country.

This team had to meet in succession Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Purdue and Michigan.

No one team had to meet two teams as hard to beat as Illinois and Purdue, who on average form rank with the best in the game.

When you consider the ranking of any team you must give the schedule major consideration. I know of more than one unbeaten team that almost surely would have taken a good trimming if it had added one or two hard games, coming after other hard games.

No team that did not play from four to six hard or battering games with opponents of standing can be given equal consideration with others that did. In the south, Georgia and Georgia Tech played the hardest schedules.

Consider Yale's hard march: Georgia, Brown, Army, Dartmouth, Maryland, Princeton, Harvard.

New Gyms Planned In South Georgia

WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 5.—Two new indoor athletic plants have been proposed in south Georgia, actual work having been started at Fitzgerald on a modern gymnasium, and funds are now being raised at Douglas for the erection of a basketball shell there, and the building is expected to be completed in time for use this winter.

Scores of such plants have been built in this section during the past several years, one of the most modern being at Wareboro, seven miles west of Waycross.

Home Boys.

Billy Laval started seven Columbia boys in his South Carolina lineup against Florida. The school is located in Columbia.

Illinois Mentor Is Sold on Lightweights; Grange Was One.

By Walter Trumbull.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Robert Zuppke, philosopher, painter and coach of the Illinois football team, last night gave me his views on an All-American eleven.

"An All-American player," said Zuppke, "is a poor defense, a long run and an inspired writer."

I wouldn't say that he was so utterly wrong at that, but countered by asking him if he hadn't had some men on his Illinois teams who were pretty fair against a good defense. He admitted that such was the case. Then I asked him to pick an all-time Illinois team.

He took Carney and Garland Grange as his ends and Armstrong and Ingerson as his tackles. His guards were McMillin and Chapman, whom he named as captain. His center was Reisch. His quarterback was Clark; his halfbacks were Red Grange and Pogue; and his fullback Grange.

Zuppke is sold on the Granges. Red Grange he believes to be the greatest football player he ever saw. Zuppke said that once, when he was walking in a German forest, he saw a great deer bound by.

"There," he said to his companion, "was Red Grange."

Zuppke said that every move made by Grange in his college days on a football field was music, rhythm, Pavlova's dancing. "Only," he adds, "when Grange leaped and danced his way down a field it was through territory where every man's hand was against him; where men were seeking savagely to throw him; to hurl him to earth."

Grange weighed only 167 pounds. "Give me," says Zuppke, "all the players of 167 pounds and under and you can have the rest. The greatest backfield I ever had as a unit was composed of Clark, Pogue, McComber and Shoberger. Clark weighed 150; Pogue 142; McComber 176; and Shoberger 183. You take the brewery horses and I'll take the race horses."

COACH ZUPPKE PREFERS LIGHT MEN FOR BACKS

By Frank Getty.

United News Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The play-boys of Broadway, chroniclers of the city's night life, sat down to a beefsteak dinner in honor of Jack Dempsey tonight, and while nothing was said about it, the occasion might as well have been featured by the former heavyweight champion's announcement of his permanent retirement as a fighting man.

Dempsey withheld the word because he feels, rightly enough, that the prospect of his possible return to the ring in quest of the heavyweight championship adds glamour to his other highly remunerative activities.

Jack is through with fighting, however. There need no longer be any doubt on that score.

A promoter, a thespian, a director of physical education, and a referee, the ex-champion has plenty of work to occupy his time. He is coining money. His fees as a referee range from $2,000 to $5,000 a night. A recent vaudeville engagement in Chicago netted Jack $10,000 for a week's appearance. He has been engaged as director of physical education for the Universal Airlines system.

It is probable that Dempsey will referee next Monday night's heavyweight bout between Otto Von Porat, of Norway, and Phil Scott, of England, a bout which may have an important bearing upon the choice of the next champion. If Jack had any intention of returning to the ring as a fighter, his position as third man in the ring on this occasion hardly would be tenable.

Gene Tunney announced on his return to the United States that his "public career" was ended. Incidentally, Gene declined an invitation to attend tonight's beefsteak dinner in Dempsey's honor. William Muldoon and W. L. Carney were present at the feast at Dirty Moore's chop house.

It is likely that Tunney, if he chose, could quickly get into condition to defeat any heavyweight now in the game. As for Dempsey, that is another story. Jack has put on flesh, and his legs no longer would carry him through a real battle. His face, slightly puffy, still bears the scars of his battles with Tunney, and a severe punching would be exceedingly dangerous to his eyes.

Dempsey Is Too Busy To Stage Comeback

Ex-Heavyweight Champion, Host at Dinner, All But Announces Permanent Retirement.

By Frank Getty.

United News Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The play-boys of Broadway, chroniclers of the city's night life, sat down to a beefsteak dinner in honor of Jack Dempsey tonight, and while nothing was said about it, the occasion might as well have been featured by the former heavyweight champion's announcement of his permanent retirement as a fighting man.

Dempsey withheld the word because he feels, rightly enough, that the prospect of his possible return to the ring in quest of the heavyweight championship adds glamour to his other highly remunerative activities.

Jack is through with fighting, however. There need no longer be any doubt on that score.

A promoter, a thespian, a director of physical education, and a referee, the ex-champion has plenty of work to occupy his time. He is coining money. His fees as a referee range from $2,000 to $5,000 a night. A recent vaudeville engagement in Chicago netted Jack $10,000 for a week's appearance. He has been engaged as director of physical education for the Universal Airlines system.

It is probable that Dempsey will referee next Monday night's heavyweight bout between Otto Von Porat, of Norway, and Phil Scott, of England, a bout which may have an important bearing upon the choice of the next champion. If Jack had any intention of returning to the ring as a fighter, his position as third man in the ring on this occasion hardly would be tenable.

Gene Tunney announced on his return to the United States that his "public career" was ended. Incidentally, Gene declined an invitation to attend tonight's beefsteak dinner in Dempsey's honor. William Muldoon and W. L. Carney were present at the feast at Dirty Moore's chop house.

It is likely that Tunney, if he chose, could quickly get into condition to defeat any heavyweight now in the game. As for Dempsey, that is another story. Jack has put on flesh, and his legs no longer would carry him through a real battle. His face, slightly puffy, still bears the scars of his battles with Tunney, and a severe punching would be exceedingly dangerous to his eyes.

As a promoter in Chicago, Jack hasn't been unusually successful. In fact, he has lost money on his shows thus far.

"If I can just break even this winter," he has said, "I'm satisfied." Dempsey told me recently. With that as his object-

Three D's Win At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 5.—(AP) The red, white and blue silks of W. T. Waggoner's Three D's stable soared to victory over Jefferson park for the second time in as many days when Double Heart captured the National Broadcasting handicap today.

Yesterday it was Calf Roper that carried the colors of the Texas-owned stable to first place in the feature race. Today Double Heart, a three-year-old son of High Time, outclassed a field of four in winning the six-furlong-sprint for all ages.

With only a quartet of starters facing the post, J. G. Demarest's seven-year-old Extreme was made the odds-on favorite but the best he could do was third. Second went to two-year-old Justina, owned by George Collins. Vesta was fourth and last. The victory of Double Heart was worth $8.40 to win and $3.40 to place, being out to show. Jockey T. May, the youthful apprentice, was up on both Double Heart and Calf Roper.

Having definitely adopted a career as promoter and referee, Jack has tacitly renounced any intention of fighting again. Moreover, when his lucrative theatrical engagements are considered, it will be seen that he is just too busy.

Night Baseball Minors' Solution

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 4. (AP)—Night baseball is the real solution to the problem of making minor league baseball succeed, Lee Laiser, president of the Des Moines Western league club, believes.

"Schools that used to be broke now have money, particularly the small institutions, because they adopted the night plan for football," Laiser said. "Why not night baseball? It will draw and offset the use of the auto and give the working man a chance to attend."

Laiser said he intended trying the plan out in Des Moines next spring.

London Racer Seeks Record

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 5. (AP)—Formal notice that Kaye Don, of London, would attempt to shatter the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour during the international speed classic, here next March, was received today in a letter from the well-known British driver to Mayor E. H. Armstrong.

Don said his car, now under construction, would be completed by the first of February and that he would arrive here before the end of that month.

Dates for the speed classic tentatively have been set for March 1 to 15. Don will attempt to break the record established here last March by Major H. O. D. Segrave, of England, who has announced his retirement from the automobile racing to take up motorboat racing as a hobby.

William Von Benz, 35-year-old German racing enthusiast, also has announced that he would enter a car in the meet and Captain Malcolm Campbell, of England, former holder of the record, has notified Mayor Armstrong that he would come here for the trials if he could complete his car in time.

Wills Returns.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(United News)—Harry Wills, Harlem heavyweight, who for several years sought a title fight with Jack Dempsey, returns to the ring next Wednesday night, meeting Andrea Castano, of Cuba, in a 10-round bout at the New York coliseum.

Tech and Georgia Vie for Gridiron Honors Today

BULLDOGS FAVORED AS GRID WARRIORS CLASH IN ATHENS

Both Elevens Forget Set-backs of Past and Will Make Strong Bid for Season's Classic.

THOUSANDS TO JAM SANFORD STADIUM

Cuban Good-Will Party, Louisiana Delegation and City and State Officials Will Attend.

BY ED DANFORTH.
Tech and Georgia play football today. They play in Athens, in the pine-girt stadium, where the Bulldogs felled Yale and the Bermuda grass forms a brown soft carpet for the annual gridiron melodrama.

Thousands of Atlantans this morning will leap to attention as the alarm clock explodes and begin a mad rush to catch one of the 17 special trains. Others will hit the highway in motor cars; the roads are said to be in good condition.

And at least one party, headed by L. W. Robert, Tech's star, will float over in a dirigible thus setting what may be a precedent in transportation to any football game anywhere. Georgia is expected to win. The experts for a week have been climbing on the Red and Black band wagon, extolling the virtues of the youngsters that Harry Mehre and Frank Thomas and Chick Shiver have teamed through a season of startling upsets. The fire of Catfish Smith, the spectacular end; "Red" Leathers, the dynamic guard; Austin Downes, the clever quarterback; and Spurgeon Chandler, the wizard passer, and a flock of shifty cleat shakers in half-back roles, have been rated too powerful for Georgia Tech to halt.

TECH POWER PLANTS.
On the other hand, to borrow an overworked phrase from the wags, the Yellow Jackets are in a "stump" of the greatest halfbacks in the south; Tom Jones, a great end; Vance Earl, an outstanding tackle; and Earl Dunlap, an iron-armed pass-chunker, cannot be dismissed lightly. The Yellow Jackets have shown signs of vitality even in defeat. The Yellow Jackets have never failed to play their best against the ancient foe.

While the prospects are all bright, but a great game and perhaps a very close one. Georgia is confident and Tech expects to make Georgia's line of football. The boys of both teams are anxious to get at each other and prove something. They will be accommodated at 2 o'clock eastern standard time.

It is the twenty-sixth game between Tech and Georgia, so the records reveal. Tech has won 12 and Georgia 14. Obviously this is Georgia's chance to even the count. The game was started in 1903 and likewise Tech's time to go two up. Only two games have been ties; that indicates how fiercely the two teams always play. One side or the other simply has to give in, he it ever so little.

RETURN TO ATHENS.
It is the first game played between the two arch-rivals in Athens since 1916, when Tommy Spence ran amok and leveled the Athens defenses, 21 to 0.

It was also the third game to be played in the new Sanford field stadium. Georgia began what they hope will become a tradition by defeating Yale 15 to 0, before 33,000 people in October. In November they defeated Auburn and have no other idea than to offer up Georgia Tech as the December sacrifice.

Some of the mightiest figures in Southern conference football will make their last charge for Alma Mater today.

Patrick J. Hurley, Oklahoma, Named Secretary of War

Selection Gives South Representation in Cabinet—Is Youngest Member in Recent Years.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Patrick J. Hurley of Oklahoma, lawyer, soldier and executive, was appointed today by President Hoover as secretary of war, a post in which he has been acting since the death of James W. Good last month.

Thus the chief executive gave effect to the wish of the southern states for a cabinet member and selected a man from one of the states of the south which gave him its electoral vote a year ago.

In announcing the appointment simultaneously with the dispatch of the nomination to the senate, the president said Hurley had been endorsed by the leading men of practically every state in the south. He added that the new cabinet officer was a lawyer of long experience, a distinguished soldier and an executive of proved ability.

With Hurley in Good's chair, many called him the "man of the hour." His contact man will be directed to W. A. Newton, of the White House secretariat, or to Postmaster General Brown.

Hurley is a good speaker, feels at home on the platform and probably will do considerable speaking for the president.

Selection of Hurley to succeed Mr. Good had been expected from the first, as it was known the president desired to give the south a cabinet place and also had a high regard for the ability of the president, who advised him definitely of his elevation to the higher post. As he left the executive offices, Hurley smiled broadly, but kept his own counsel.

Soon after he returned to the war department he was congratulated by General Charles P. Summerall, chief of the army general staff, and other high officers with whom he personally is popular. He also received congratulatory messages from other friends in Washington, including Senators and representatives.

The new war secretary has attended cabinet meetings held since the death of his chief and has been an active assistant secretary of war. He is one of the youngest men to hold a cabinet post in years, being only 46.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the republican floor leader, said that "during Mr. Hurley's short service as assistant secretary of war he has shown a fine grasp of the duties of that office."

Born in Territory.
Hurley was born in the Choctaw nation, Indian territory, January 3, 1883. He was graduated from Iaeger college, Indian territory, in 1905, and began the practice of law at Tulsa, Okla., in 1908. Four years later he became attorney for the Choctaw nation.

The new secretary's military service began in 1902 as a captain of cavalry in the Indian territory volunteer militia. Later he was a captain in the Oklahoma national guard and during the World War reached the grade of lieutenant colonel. He was awarded the distinguished service medal and the silver star citation for gallantry in action near Louppy, France, on August 10, 1918.

In 1927 he became president of the First Trust and Savings Bank, Tulsa, Okla., and also has been a director of the First National Bank in that city.

Patrick J. Hurley Friday was formally selected by President Hoover to be secretary of war, succeeding the late James W. Good.

TARIFF MAY DELAY INCOME TAX CUT

Controversial Measure Is Squaring in Path of Reduction—George To Fight Corporation Cut.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Facing an uncertain future in the tariff-embattled senate, the $100,000,000 tax reduction resolution will be considered tomorrow by the senate finance committee with a view to reporting approval of it early next week.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, announced tonight that if the resolution gets before the senate next week he will favor immediate consideration. Senator Sumners, of North Carolina, democratic spokesman in revenue legislation, has contended the tax cut must await a decision first by the senate on the tariff bill.

Leaders of the various factions in the senate will determine sentiment on the week-end recess on its procedure for the tariff and tariff measures and also on suggestions for modification of the tax proposal.

Leaders of both parties in the senate are agreed that the tax reduction should be disposed of in time to permit it to go into effect by next March 15, when the first returns on 1929 incomes are due.

Senator George, democrat, Georgia, has expressed doubt over the propriety of allowing the $90,000,000 reduction proposed for corporations on taxes to be paid next year. He contends the corporations already have collected these taxes.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, a leader of the republican independents, has indicated he would not oppose early consideration of the tax reduction resolution if some agreement is entered into whereby debate would be limited. This assurance would be given that no considerable delay would be encountered in disposition of the tariff bill.

The tariff bill laid aside two weeks ago in the special session returned temporarily to its legislative groove today, but little headway was made with committee amendments.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, failed in an attempt to have the senate meet an hour earlier than the usual noon hour when it resumes sessions next Monday.

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, a physician who repeatedly protested against long meeting hours during this session, objected to Watson's unanimous consent request, saying he did not propose to have senators "stay in this vile atmosphere" any longer than necessary.

FROZEN PEACHES TO BE PRODUCED IN GEORGIA PLANT

$1,000,000 Factory Is Expected To Open Up New Market for State's Largest Fruit Crop.

A million-dollar plant, backed by northern capital, and slated to open a new market for Georgia peaches, will be located in the state before spring of the next year, to buy fruit direct from the producer, freeze it and sell it during the colder months of the year when canned peaches alone are available, it was announced here Friday by officials of the state bureau of markets.

It is their belief that the new product will consume the surplus crop, open a new market, and bring direct relief to the consumer, when fresh peaches shall be made possible for housewives' tables during every month in the year.

W. R. Tucker, agricultural development and immigration agent of the A. B. & C. railroad, announced Friday that a Chicago syndicate had become interested in the project and that a charter for a plant to produce the frozen fruit will be applied for within the next two weeks. Just where the million-dollar plant will be located has not been definitely settled, but it is understood that it will be placed in the peach belt.

Five Plants Planned.
It is the plan to have at least one, and possibly as many as five, plants over the state by the end of next spring. Operation will begin with the opening of the peach season next summer.

The new million-dollar industry was brought to the state of Georgia through the medium of a $500 experiment on the part of the Georgia State Bureau of Markets. In 1928 approximately 17,000 carloads of peaches were shipped from the state of Georgia, while 3,000 carloads were left to rot on the trees. The loss to individual farmers caused a study to be made of the situation in the summer of 1928.

When the project proved successful in July, steps were taken to develop the idea and to obtain capital for packing plants.

The peaches are bought in the fields and cut for table use. Then they are frozen, placed in paper containers and shipped with "dry ice." Two thousand pounds of this fruit, grown in Georgia this past summer, will be sent out this Christmas to the markets of America as gifts from the bureau of markets. Restaurants, hotels and steamship companies will serve fresh fruit at Christmas time.

It is predicted that 80,000,000 pounds will be placed on the market in this time by the end of the summer of 1930, thinks Mr. Tucker, and the Georgia peach crop in time will be doubled. The new product does not offer competition to canned goods, because it is fresh and bears the flavor of the fruit picked from the tree.

Its flavor is superior, according to medical and refrigeration authorities who have sampled the product, to that of the Georgia peach which is shipped during the summer months. The latter is picked comparatively green and wrapped in paper to ripen en route to their destination.

YOUTH IS BOUND
OVER TO GRAND JURY IN SLAYING

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A "manifesto" calling upon his supporters who voted for him to arm themselves in preparation for return to Mexico has been issued by Jose Vasconcelos, defeated anti-electionist candidate for the Mexican presidency, according to a statement made here today by Dr. Francisco Del Rio Canedo, former secretary to Vasconcelos.

Vasconcelos, Canedo said, is en route to Los Angeles for a conference and will arrive in San Antonio within ten days.

Dr. Canedo, who lives in San Antonio, returned here Thursday night from Nogales, bringing copies of the manifesto. He says that Vasconcelos is in the United States "for self preservation against the 'government assassins,'" and that the leader will return to Mexico as soon as his people have had an opportunity to organize for armed opposition to the government.

G. A. CAMPBELL, JR., KILLED BY BULLET FIRED BY ACCIDENT

Son of Atlanta Title and Trust Company Official Is Shot While Refereeing Football Game.

George A. Campbell, Jr., 15, of 1703 South Gordon street, son of George A. Campbell, Sr., vice president and secretary of the Atlanta Title and Trust Company, was killed almost instantly late Friday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a .22-caliber rifle. Campbell died en route to Georgia Baptist hospital in an ambulance of Harry G. Pool.

A police investigation made of the accident under direction of Captain Arthur J. Holcombe, revealed that Campbell was refereeing a football game for his companions in a vacant lot near 1711 Westwood avenue.

During the progress of the game Fred Bookius, 12, of 1579 Olympia way, and Edwin Gallimore, 12, of 1669 Olympia way, arrived at the scene from near-by woods. Bookius, with a .22-caliber rifle. It is said that Bookius laid his gun on the ground some distance away from the players while he watched the contest. Gallimore laid down near him.

Gallimore told police he later heard the shot and looked up to see Campbell crumple to the ground. There were two or three dogs on the grounds and police believe that one of them ran against the gun while the youths were watching the game, causing the discharge of the gun.

Miss Emma Burnett, of 1711 Westwood avenue, told police she saw Campbell as he fell to the ground; but said she did not know how the gun was fired. She summoned an ambulance and the youth was taken to the hospital.

An only son, Campbell was one of the most popular boys in his neighborhood, and his death cast a gloom over the entire section. Mr. Campbell told a Constitution reporter that he was sure the death of his son was entirely accidental. Campbell was a junior at Joe Brown high school.

Coroner Paul Donohoo stated late Friday night that no report of the death had been made to him.

In addition to his parents the victim is survived by a sister, Mary. Barclay & Brandon will announce funeral arrangements.

MOTHER ATTACKS SONS WITH AXE, INJURING THREE

AUGUSTA, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Three boys lay in a hospital here today, two of them seriously hurt, victims of an attack with an ax by their mother, Mrs. Ada Drake Lane, while they slept in the Lane home.

Frank Marbach, of Jenkins county, who reported the affair, said Mrs. Lane was mentally deranged and had formerly been a patient at the state sanitarium at Milledgeville. After removal of the three boys to Augusta for treatment Mrs. Lane was taken to Milledgeville.

Edward, 10; George, 15; and Ben, the older brother, were the injured. Edward and George sustained fractured skulls from the blows with the ax, while Ben's injuries were somewhat less serious.

Hospital reports today indicated that the three boys were all conscious, but attaches said it would be about 24 hours before they could be said to be out of danger.

DEFEATED MEXICAN CANDIDATE CALLS FOR FRIENDS TO ARM

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A "manifesto" calling upon his supporters who voted for him to arm themselves in preparation for return to Mexico has been issued by Jose Vasconcelos, defeated anti-electionist candidate for the Mexican presidency, according to a statement made here today by Dr. Francisco Del Rio Canedo, former secretary to Vasconcelos.

Vasconcelos, Canedo said, is en route to Los Angeles for a conference and will arrive in San Antonio within ten days.

City Hall Probe To Be Exhaustive, Boykin Declares

Denied Senate Post

William S. Boykin, solicitor-general from Pennsylvania, by a vote of 58 to 22, was denied the right to sit in the United States senate. His successor is expected to be named shortly.

The present grand jury probe into alleged city hall graft will develop into one of the longest and most exhaustive investigations conducted during his long tenure of office, Solicitor-General John A. Boykin revealed Friday, when he announced that evidence so far uncovered made it certain that the investigation could not be completed in less than three months and may even require a longer period.

"It may take six months even to scratch the surface," Mr. Boykin said in commenting on the investigation. "We are not really started yet."

The solicitor-general refused to amplify his statements or give any indication of what the inquiry has disclosed thus far.

"From the looks of things," Mr. Boykin said, "we are going to have to delve into 'deals' made years ago, deals made by men who long since have stepped out of office and are no longer connected with the city government."

Pressed for a statement regarding any specific "deal," Mr. Boykin refused to answer.

"There will be nothing for publication until the entire investigation has been completed," he said.

The grand jury met Friday but only took up its routine work, that which is usually done at its semi-weekly meetings. Its investigation of city hall affairs will be resumed at the regular meeting Tuesday, Solicitor Boykin said.

Concerning the charges of Assistant Superintendent Raymond R. Ritchie that liquor-runners were using public school grounds as transfer points for their illicit cargoes, Mr. Boykin said he hoped that investigation would be completed by the present grand jury before its retirement December 31.

Assistant Superintendent Ritchie appeared before the grand jury at a special session Thursday afternoon but what he divulged to that body has not been learned. Sergeants H. T. Short and H. E. Miller, of the U. S. army, who are instructors in the training unit at Boys' High and Tech High also were called to appear before the grand jury Thursday, but did not give testimony. Both have been directed to return for Tuesday's session. Others are known to be subpoenaed for Tuesday's session, but Solicitor-General Boykin refused to identify them.

U. S. WILL TAKE NO COGNIZANCE OF ALABAMA RULING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran said today that the decision of the Alabama state court that a purchaser of liquor was equally guilty with the seller of violating the state prohibition laws could in no way affect enforcement under the national prohibition laws.

"The Alabama decision is purely a state law and does not apply to the Volstead act in any way," Doran said. "It is purely a state affair with which the federal government has no connection and the decision could not be used by the federal government if we wished."

AGED FORMER HEAD OF BOSTON SCHOOL DIES AT BROOKLINE

BROOKLINE, Mass., Dec. 6.—(AP)—William Fairfield Warren, president emeritus of Boston University, died at his home here tonight in his 90th year. Dr. Warren was taken ill with pneumonia a few days ago.

Dr. Warren was the first president of Boston University and gave 30 years of active service to that institution. In 1873 when he became president there was only one department in the university, the school of theology. He inaugurated what at that time was an unprecedented policy, taking the ground that all professional and cultural education of the university should be open to all without regard to sex or color.

SOUTHERN COLLEGE ASSOCIATION MEETS IN ATLANTA IN 1930

PRESIDENT SENDS NOTE TO CONGRESS EXPLAINING MOVE

Flagship Wright Sails for Negro Republic Today Carrying Men From Three Marine Bases.

PORT AU PRINCE IS DESTINATION

Executive's Message Arrives Too Late To Be Read and Contents Are Withheld From Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Additional marines are being assembled for dispatch to Haiti because of the seriousness with which the administration views the disturbed situation there.

President Hoover is so concerned over the events which have required establishment of martial law there that today he sent a special message to congress, believed to contain an explanation of his reasons for sending more marines. The senate and house had adjourned, however, and the contents of the message consequently were withheld from the public.

White House Silent.
Both the White House and the navy department tonight carefully refrained from divulging any information as to the plans.

Word from Norfolk, Va., that the U. S. S. flagship Wright had received "secret orders" to sail sometime tomorrow with a detachment of marines for "duty beyond the sea" elicited no comment.

At Quapico, the marine base near Washington, leave was denied to all troops and preparations were pushed for an early departure of a detachment.

Others were ready at Parris Island, S. C., and Norfolk. They will reinforce the 700 marines already on duty in Haiti, who are in barracks at Port-Au-Prince and Cape Haitien. A 900-ton navy mine sweeper is stationed there.

These forces are regularly stationed on the island, the United States never having removed all marines since it co-operated with Haitian leaders in setting up a government in 1915.

Russell Reports Serious Situation.
An indication of the gravity of the Haitian unsettledness was given by Secretary Stimson, who said the American high commissioner, Brigadier General John H. Russell, fears that a "serious situation" may result at Haitian ports after the disturbance which arose at Aux Cayes yesterday morning.

That conditions in Haiti have been somewhat alarming to American officials for some time was indicated in the annual message of President Hoover to congress earlier this week. He said the problem of American relations with the republic demanded a solution which the republic demanded.

He asked at that time for approval to dispatch a commission to Haiti to review and state the situation. There was no indication tonight whether he

A &amp; P IS THE WORLD'S LARGEST RETAILER OF COFFEE

Down Come Coffee Prices

Right at a time when saving is uppermost in the minds of millions... A&P makes deep cuts in the price of coffee

The prices of raw coffee have tumbled! A&P with its foresight into market conditions, is able to immediately take advantage of this. Consequently down go A&P Coffee prices... and these prices are not sale prices. They are A&P's new, low, regular prices.

Undoubtedly, you know that A&P buys only the finest grades of coffee from the world's greatest coffee-growing countries—Colombia and Brazil. Therefore, these coffees are guaranteed

"highest quality." A&P's own purchasing offices in South America give A&P a coffee-buying advantage unequalled by any other chain of food stores in America. All America knows that coffee bought at an A&P Food Store is sure to be "fresh-roasted" coffee. Direct and frequent deliveries in small quantities from near-by roasting plants, is your assurance that the pound of coffee you buy at A&P is bound to be fresh from the oven.

★ OUR GUARANTEE ... buy a pound today. If you are not delighted with the quality, freshness and flavor ... return the unused portion and the full purchase price will be cheerfully refunded.

EIGHT-O'CLOCK POUND 29c

This coffee is the cream of the Brazilian coffee crop. It is the largest selling coffee in the world. Its quality won the gold medal at the Sesquicentennial Exposition. Favored by millions for its distinctive, full-bodied flavor. A sensational value!

RED CIRCLE POUND 33c

This coffee is a blend of the finest coffees grown on the high mountain plateaus of Colombia and Brazil. Blended for those who enjoy a mellow-flavored coffee of smooth richness and delightful bouquet. Selected, bought, blended and roasted by A&P's own organization. Extraordinary value at this new low regular price.

BOKAR POUND 39c

This coffee is the personal blend of the world's greatest coffee buyer. A coffee that attains new heights in richness and mellowness. New heights in flavor. The equal in quality of America's finest package coffees and far superior to anything less than the finest... and sold at a price at least 20c below the finest... Bokar is America's greatest package coffee value.

Atlanta Elected General Secretary Of Shippers' Board

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6.—(P)—While the forecast of commodity shipments for the first three months of 1930 announced here today by the southeast shippers' advisory board is 16,011 cars less than the actual movements during the corresponding period of 1929, reports submitted featured an outlook of continuing prosperity with but slight depression resulting from the vagaries of the stock market.

With few exceptions the reports submitted by representatives of 23 basic industries in the southeast, anticipating a volume of business during the first quarter of 1930 exceeding the same period of this year, A. J. Young, of Atlanta, was named general secretary.

POWER CO. DENIES ALL LAVARRE CHARGES

Answer to $2,500,000 Breach of Contract Suit Filed at Columbia.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 6.—(P)—All allegations contained in the suit of William LaVarre for $2,500,000, alleging breach of contract, were denied by the International Paper Company in its answer to the suit filed in United States district court here today.

The paper company denied that it had accepted any plan advanced by LaVarre and also denied that the plan which LaVarre claimed he originated was worth "several millions of dollars in money" as claimed in the suit.

The company admits that it made loans for the purchase of several newspapers in the southeast but asserts that although LaVarre made the purchase in his own name they were "for the account and benefit of himself and Harold Hall, jointly and as partners."

LaVarre, with Harold Hall, came into the southeast last spring and purchased the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, the Columbia Record and the Spartanburg Journal and Herald. LaVarre claims that the International Paper Company had agreed to loan him $2,500,000 for the purchase of papers and to give him two years in which to refinance his project.

He alleges in his suit that the paper company, after advancing $870,000, conspired with Hall to gain control of the papers, breaking the two-year refinancing agreement and refused to advance the remainder of the $2,500,000. He asks that the company be compelled to carry out the unwritten agreement and that he be awarded $2,500,000 damages and that the money already advanced be applied toward those damages.

In another suit filed in the United States district court at Macon, Ga., Federal Judge Deaver held that Hall and LaVarre were partners and allowed two years for refinancing.

ATLANTA WOMAN AWARDED $10,000 IN SON'S DEATH

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 6.—(Special).—Mrs. R. J. Teagle, of Atlanta, mother of L. M. Teagle, 22, who with his wife was killed by a Seaboard Air Line railway train at the town bridge crossing, one mile west of Lawrenceville, on October 28, was awarded $10,000 damages by a jury in superior court here today.

Mrs. Teagle originally filed suit for $50,000.

The young couple, who resided in Atlanta, were en route to the home of Mrs. Teagle's parents when their automobile was struck. Mrs. Teagle was killed instantly and her husband died shortly after reaching an Atlanta hospital.

Suit is pending for damages in the death of Mrs. Teagle.

Plan Survey.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Dec. 6.—(Special).—Thomasville city council has under consideration a plan for making an industrial survey of the town. Results of the survey would be put in handy form, and furnished, as occasion demands, to industrial and manufacturing concerns that are considering localities with a view to locating.

Ideal Football Day Promised Grid Devotees

Today is going to be another of those delightful Indian summer days. Director C. F. von Herrmann, of the weather bureau, announces. The mercury will start off early this morning at around 45 and climb to about a high of 65, reaching the maximum probably about 1 o'clock today.

It probably will be cloudy in Atlanta, beginning about mid-afternoon today, but it will be clear in Athens for the football game and for the visit of the Cubans to that intellectual center. And, it's probable, Mr. von Herrmann added, that we will have just a little more rain to help swell the record established many days since.

Friday was the kind of autumn day that promotes spring fever. The mercury ranged between 40 and 61 as occasion demands, to industrial and manufacturing concerns that are considering localities with a view to locating.

GERMAN FLYER DEFENDS BYRD AND BALCHEN

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(P)—Captain Hermann Koehl, German trans-Atlantic aviator, today entered the arena in defense of Commander Richard E. Byrd and Pilot Brent Balchen against the recent criticism of Major Trygve Gran, Norwegian explorer who was with the Scott expedition.

Captain Koehl, in a statement in the Mittag Zeitung, said that Major Gran had not made a single practical argument but only a personal one.

"I personally am acquainted with Commander Byrd, who I highly esteem as an explorer and a man and know that nothing is farther from his nature than to seek sensational publicity. He doesn't need it," said the German aviator.

As further evidence Captain Koehl mentioned Commander Byrd's first assistant, Pilot Balchen, praising him for the part he took in bringing aid to the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen stranded on Greenland early in 1928.

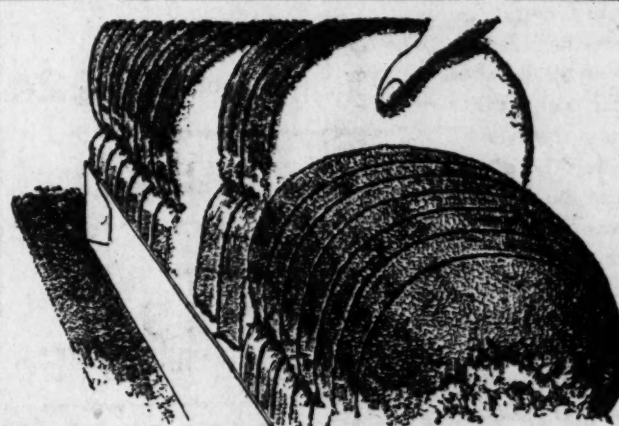

"Balchen became a loyal pal of the late Baron Von Huenefeld, Fitzmaurice and myself after our landing on Greenland island," said Captain Koehl. "Fairness demands that I defend this excellent flier. It was he who, with Floyd Bennett, came to our aid and rescued us from the fangs of that icy, rocky waste. The public never realized the dangers besetting their heroic deed for which Bennett paid with his life."

JURY CONSIDER CASE OF ALLEGED STORE BANDITS

Only one case of importance was taken up by the grand jury Friday. It was that against James Ramey, 20, and Henry Gemme, 22, accused of attempted robbery of the confectionery shop of P. G. Graft in Houston street early Wednesday. Gemme is being held at the Fulton tower, while Ramey, shot by Graft, is under guard in the Grady hospital.

According to the police, Ramey admitted his part in the attempted holdup, but only denials have come from Gemme. Both men have been identified by Graft.

Whether or not the two men were indicted could not be learned Friday night as no judge was present at the courthouse when the session was completed and the presentments will not be made until this morning.

Tang o' the North Woods

Out of a fragrant earthen oven—the "bean hole"—buried all night in the great iron bean pot—comes the finest food of the Maine forests—"Bean Hole" Beans.

Now you can have just such beans as one of the best, most wholesome dishes for your table. Easy to serve, distinctive in taste—food the entire family will ask for again and again.

BEAN HOLE BEANS

bring you the famous recipe of the North Woods—a layer of select beans, a layer of sugar-cured pork, a cup of brown sugar, a cup of molasses. Just good, body-and-brown-building food clear through, with the "outdoors" flavor as zest for the appetite.

The first taste will show you why Bean Hole Beans are not only different from any other beans—but better. Why not try them tonight? Two sizes, medium, 15c; large, 25c.

Georgia's Boggy Highways Shock to British Journalist

PERRY LIKENS TRIP TO ATHENS TO JOURNEY IN TANK

BY ALFRED P. PERRY.
Bang! swish! woomph! A tank plowing through the shell-torn fields of France, as depicted in the latest war novel? Not at all. Merely a ride over a main road in north-eastern Georgia after a little rain. It was my first introduction to the highway system of this part of the United States. The experience made up amply in excitement for what it lacked in comfort. Such a clattering, alighting progress as we made over those 70 miles to Athens I have never had the privilege of enjoying, even in the wilds of Ireland. As our car pitched amid the potholes and clouds of the finest Georgia mud slashed against the windshield like spray before a stiff nor'wester I could almost believe that I was on a trolley driving into a bucketing sea. On such occasions loud wails would rise from the remainder of the crew aft, as they rubbed skulls dented by violent contact with the top. Their long-drawn sufferings made me wonder why no enterprising merchant of Atlanta had produced a padded cotton quilt for fixing to all standard automobile tops in order to preserve the brains of Georgia's backseat drivers from constant battering by Georgia's roads. Mental and Physical Shock. To find such public highways in the United States was something of a shock, mental as well as physical. For elsewhere I have always been impressed by the excellence of these communications. The magnificent cement highways running straight as arrows to the far horizon which lie so thick in California and other western states are revelations to a European. On them the largest coaches maintain a scheduled speed of 40 miles an hour with perfect safety, while any private car can keep the needle hovering around the fifties without the passenger being conscious of discomfort. And out there even the dirt roads have surfaces almost equal to cement, for they are sprayed at intervals with the crude oil which is so cheap and plentiful in those regions.

Further east, in Kansas, these highways have not the advantage of abundant oil close at hand and though their condition is good in dry weather I am told that after heavy rains they are reduced to much the same condition as those of Georgia. The roads of New England suffer in comparison with those of the west by being on the whole less straight, a difference due partly to the natural configuration of the country. But their surface is generally excellent and if the average rate of traffic is somewhat slower British Motorists Handicapped. American visitors will find this handicap of New England's highways very much more marked in Britain. There most of the country roads date from the days of the stagecoach, when delicate travelers setting out upon a journey were solemnly warned of the danger of apoplexy should they exceed a speed of 12 miles an hour for more than a few minutes at a time. In many districts winding, narrow lanes between high hedges and hidden junctions make a speed of more than 30 miles an hour criminally dangerous; and the quaint superstition of pedestrians and cyclists that the road belongs to them as much as to the motorist behooves the driver to keep his eyes open and his brake foot ready.

The main highways are, of course, much broader and less crooked, but their tar-mac surfaces are apt to be treacherous in wet weather and the danger of skids prohibits the speeds possible under similar conditions on cement. The legal limit is still 20 miles an hour throughout the island, a relic of a bygone age which is honored more in the breach than the observance. But it's an ill wind that blows nobody good. These vexatious old rules are well beloved by country authorities in need of funds, who have a pleasant habit of "trapping" like stretches in their jurisdiction. These efforts to "raise the wind" often meet with only limited success, however, for as soon as they become known the local "scouts" of the Automobile Association hurry to the scene. Having marked the position of the trap they post themselves a few hundred yards down wind and signal a warning to approaching drivers, who promptly shut off the gas and crawl past the baffled bobbies at a derivative 10 miles an hour! Beauty of Countryside. The countryside through which we passed on our way to Athens and Washington impressed me with its wild, almost desolate beauty. How different was this untamed landscape from the trim green and brown patchwork of the typical English country scene, with its little red brick villages clustered around the old church spire and its fields enclosed by thick thorn hedges or stone walls. Here the sullen drab-dusted cottonfields seemed to wage a ceaseless struggle with the dark forest and tangled scrub which hemmed them in on every side. And the weather-beaten little wooden farm-houses which melted into the landscape seemed to whisper of a weary, bitter fight against relentless nature.

For hour after hour the scene scarcely changed, and I realized once again the vastness of this country, where a day's journey will give less variety of landscape than an hour's ride in Britain. But if the countryside through which we passed was unfamiliar, the spirit of deep peace which brooded over the little country towns upon our way carried me nearer home than I had been for many months. There were the same general groups of loungers resting their weary backs against the wall and eyeing all newcomers with gloomy suspicion. There were the same general stores where all things can be bought, from frying-pans to fishhooks, the same druggists where the local maidens may obtain the essential aids to beauty. Only one thing was lacking, "the jolly farmer" and the "hare and hounds" that, however, was an omission which I felt most deeply.

But no account of riding through Georgia would be complete without a tribute to the native courtesy of her citizens. I will not easily forget the old farmer who came out into the bitter night when our motor died outside his door and invited us to share the warmth of his fire until the trouble could be righted. While Georgia has such kindly dwellers by her highways the traveler will surely forgive the rough treatment which she gives him on her roads!

$20,000,000 SEED LOAN TO FARMERS OF SOUTH PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—A resolution to provide $20,000,000 for seed loans to farmers in flood-stricken sections of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama was introduced today by Representative Edwards, democrat, Georgia.

Re-enactment of the law authorizing the loan of $6,000,000 to farmers of the flooded regions for seed for the crop year 1929 would be provided under the resolution except that the loans would be for the crop year 1930 and the revolving fund would be increased by $14,000,000.

Representative Edwards in the resolution said the low price of farm products had resulted in the farmers using virtually all the proceeds of the crops to repay the seed loans, and that they were in practically the same financial condition now as at the beginning of 1929. Several similar measures have been introduced by other southern representatives.

Georgia Woman, Sentenced to Die, Sued for $9,000

MACON, Ga., Dec. 6.—(AP)—

Eleven years and three days after the death of Samuel B. Wright, farm hand of Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Powers, who now is under sentence of death in what the state describes as an "insurance murder plot," legal action has been started to recover $9,000 insurance on Wright's life which is said to have been paid to Mrs. Powers. Wright's widow, who has remarried since his death and is now Mrs. John Coder, of Miamisburg, Ohio, asks the insurance her share.

Mrs. Powers, who is 70 years old and recently opened a boarding house here, awaits death in the electric chair with Earl Manchester in consequence of their conviction on charges of slaying James W. Parks, Atlanta youth who boarded with Mrs. Powers and upon whose life she had $9,000 double indemnity insurance policies. Manchester confessed that Mrs. Powers offered him $1,000 of the insurance, when collected, to do away with Parks.

Upon Wright's death, December 3, 1918, Mrs. Powers was named temporary administratrix of his estate upon her own application. She has since made no report, according to the petition of Mrs. Coder's attorney, Douglas Feagin, for appointment of B. L. Anderson, local attorney, as permanent administrator. The petition alleges that the insurance was payable to Wright's estate, and therefore belonged to his widow, but that it was collected and kept by Mrs. Powers.

Hearing on the petition has been set for January 6, and if it is granted, Attorney Feagin indicated that suit would be brought against Mrs. Powers and her bondsmen for $9,000.

COMRADES RESCUE FIREMAN OVERCOME IN FIGHTING BLAZE

Placing duty before personal danger, Amos F. Riese, fireman of No. 2 company, Friday morning almost lost his life when he continued to fight to save an apartment house at 254 Capitol place, S. W., even after his companions had urged him to flee from the smoke-filled building.

He was overcome by the smoke and fellow firemen dragged him to the open air. He was reported to be none the worse from the effect of the smoke.

The fire was discovered in the apartment of Mrs. Katherine Fletcher shortly after 1:30 o'clock in the morning. The apartment itself was saved but heavy damage was done to furniture.

SMALLEST LETTER DELIVERED HERE TO MISS TUTEN

"Miss Katherine Tuten, 964 Peachtree street," Friday was delivered the smallest letter that ever went through the Atlanta postoffice.

The tiny envelope containing the letter was completely covered on one side by a special delivery stamp while on the other there was, in addition to the regular postage stamp, just room for the address, written in a tiny but legible hand.

Bearing no return address, it offered Postmaster Edward K. Large opportunity to direct public attention to the importance of giving complete addresses and especially the return address.

The little letter created a stir at the postoffice. Miss Tuten was surprised at the letter but did not divulge its contents.

MILLIONTH PHONE OF SOUTHERN BELL IS INSTALLED HERE

The one millionth telephone of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company was installed Friday morning in the home of Roy LeCraw, at 2800 Brentwood drive, N. E.

This event marks an important epoch in the history of the telephone industry in the south and a number of supervisory officials were present to witness the installation.

Cuban Good-Will Delegation To Attend Grid Game Today And Then Start for Home

Following Tech-Georgia Affair in Athens, Party Will Board Special for Long Trip to Island.

Leaving behind them an auspicious launched movement for Georgians

They pay them a return call in the early spring, members of the Cuban good-will tour will bid good-bye to Atlanta at 9:30 o'clock this morning, and go to Athens for the Georgia Tech game. Tonight they leave on their special train for Jacksonville, Miami, Key West and home.

As presented by members of the Havana committee on the Cuban good-will tour here, the reciprocal visit will revolve around a struggle for baseball honors between teams from Georgia Tech and the University of Havana. The American national pastime is Cuba's favorite sport.

A tentative date suggested by Colonel Eugenio Silva, vice president of the National Tourists' commission of Cuba, is March 15, when the South and Central American Olympic contest in which 21 nations will participate, are to be held in Havana. If the Atlanta-Havana good-will tour is carried through, the Olympic program will be arranged at its take care of the Tech-University of Havana game.

BC Relieves Headaches and Quiets Nerves

Realizing that no one drug can conquer all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina druggist developed a combination of five ingredients which function together, giving immediate, complete and safe relief for any kind of a headache, neuralgic, sciatic or rheumatic pain, quiets the nerves and leaves you normally buoyant, without depression or bad after effects.

This combination of pain-relieving ingredients, so efficient for women also at special times, may be found at any drug store or sold under the name "B-C" (40c and 25c) ready for use in easing pains and quieting nerves in three minutes.

"B-C" is the most amazing preparation of its kind ever discovered and is guaranteed harmless.

To avoid imitative substitutes, don't ask for a "headache powder," but specify and insist upon "B-C" and get the original and genuine that never fails to bring quick and comforting relief.

3 minute relief for Pain

IF YOU HAD A NECK AS LONG AS THIS FELLOW AND HAD SORE THROAT ALL THE WAY DOWN TONSILLINE SHOULD QUICKLY RELIEVE IT. 25c and 40c. Hospital Size $1.00. ALL DRUGGISTS.

Great 2 Minute Cold Reliever Takes Country

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute cold reliever, authorized by the government by the laboratories, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the government as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold remedy they have ever tried.

To get rid of that cold step in the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspirin, the liquid cold remedy, and tell him to serve you two tablets at once. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes. If you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away, don't be bashful, for all druggists invite and expect you to try it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirin is by far the safest, most effective, easiest to take and the most agreeable cold remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. All druggists carry and guarantee Aspirin, the largest selling liquid cold remedy in the world. (adv.)

BC Relieves Headaches and Quiets Nerves

Realizing that no one drug can conquer all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina druggist developed a combination of five ingredients which function together, giving immediate, complete and safe relief for any kind of a headache, neuralgic, sciatic or rheumatic pain, quiets the nerves and leaves you normally buoyant, without depression or bad after effects.

This combination of pain-relieving ingredients, so efficient for women also at special times, may be found at any drug store or sold under the name "B-C" (40c and 25c) ready for use in easing pains and quieting nerves in three minutes.

"B-C" is the most amazing preparation of its kind ever discovered and is guaranteed harmless.

To avoid imitative substitutes, don't ask for a "headache powder," but specify and insist upon "B-C" and get the original and genuine that never fails to bring quick and comforting relief.

3 minute relief for Pain

IF YOU HAD A NECK AS LONG AS THIS FELLOW AND HAD SORE THROAT ALL THE WAY DOWN TONSILLINE SHOULD QUICKLY RELIEVE IT. 25c and 40c. Hospital Size $1.00. ALL DRUGGISTS.

Great 2 Minute Cold Reliever Takes Country

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute cold reliever, authorized by the government by the laboratories, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the government as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold remedy they have ever tried.

To get rid of that cold step in the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspirin, the liquid cold remedy, and tell him to serve you two tablets at once. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes. If you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away, don't be bashful, for all druggists invite and expect you to try it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirin is by far the safest, most effective, easiest to take and the most agreeable cold remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. All druggists carry and guarantee Aspirin, the largest selling liquid cold remedy in the world. (adv.)

Baby Dirigible Lands at Candler Field for First Time; Cuban Visitors Are Among Those Given Ride Over City

The first dirigible that ever visited Atlanta arrived at Candler field about 9 o'clock Friday morning from Gadsden, Ala. A crew of eight Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company employees, with the aid of six attaches at the field, hauled the company's baby blimp Vigilant to the ground, as police held back a large crowd of spectators, anxious to get a close-up view of the ship.

W. G. Starnes, local manager of the Goodyear company, arranged for a short sky-ride for a party of Cuban officials and Atlantans who were at the field making an inspection of Atlanta's municipal airport. Among those taking the trip were Lieutenant Arturo De Diosola, aide to the Cuban secretary of navy and war; W. B. Hartsfield, Henson Tatum, secretary to Mayor Ragsdale; Captain J. Adalberto Gimenez and Senor Canas, general chairman of the good-will tour committee, were up early enough to begin a night-seeing trip Friday morning which included the Coca-Cola plant and some of Atlanta's largest industries. Many, however, went shopping and in the afternoon numbers attended Atlanta theaters.

The Atlanta office of the department of commerce is keenly interested in promoting a return good-will tour to Havana next spring. Harry Mitchell, district representative of the Georgia Commercial Association, said Friday, "This office will use its best efforts to promote the tour, believing that it will further promote our trade relations."

Similar expressions were made by Benjamin S. Barker, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, by Colonel J. C. Woodward and Colonel Henderson Hallman, grand marshals of Wednesday's parade. Several details of the trip were discussed with this triumvirate by Colonel Silva and Sam T. Tolson, the moving force at Atlanta back of the visit to Havana.

A party to be composed of some of Georgia's leading businessmen, and drawn from over the state, and especially from Brunswick and Savannah, port cities, a detachment of the Georgia national guard, the Tech baseball team and a score of Georgia debutantes is being considered for the visit to Havana.

Promoters of the return tour directed attention Friday to a large importation of sugar from Cuba to the United States, 150,000,000 pounds of which come to Atlanta for local use through the port of Savannah in 1930. There also are large exports from Cuba of tobacco and cigars which are brought to Brunswick and Savannah by tramp steamers which, for want of a return cargo, go back with only crew and ballast.

Other speakers, introduced by Colonel Woodward, included Colonel Silva and Julius Focato, president of the Havana Yacht Club; Perre Bechtel, banjo soloist, and Miss Mary Agnes Crawford, contributed to the entertainment of the luncheon party.

The American Legion luncheon to the Cuban visitors was presided over by Commander G. H. Hildreth of the Atlanta post, and was attended by State Commander Charles Graddick and Mrs. L. J. Bombardier, president of the Atlanta Auxiliary chapter of the organization. Other guests included Colonel Gerald P. O'Keefe, of the 122nd regiment, Georgia national guard, and Colonel Pat Stephens.

Colonel Coello, last of several speakers, brought a burst of applause when he read another cable from President Machado expressing his "great pleasure" at the reception tendered the Cubans in Atlanta and again sending his own cordial greetings.

Other speakers, introduced by Colonel Woodward, included Colonel Silva and Julius Focato, president of the Havana Yacht Club; Perre Bechtel, banjo soloist, and Miss Mary Agnes Crawford, contributed to the entertainment of the luncheon party.

The Vigilant is a sister-ship of the Defender, which floated over the downtown section early Thursday night en route to Miami.

MRS. W. D. BREWER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. W. D. Brewer, 62, of 1556 Rogers avenue, S. W., wife of W. D. Brewer, veteran employee of the N. & W. & St. L. railway, died early Friday morning at a local hospital. Mrs. Brewer was a devoted member of the Baptist Tabernacle. Although in ill health for several years, her condition did not become critical until two weeks ago.

A native of Adairsville, Mrs. Brewer moved to Atlanta after her marriage and had lived here for 30 years. Despite her failing health she took an active interest in church work.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the tabernacle with Dr. Len G. Broughton, officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Surviving members of the family in addition to her husband are three daughters, Mrs. P. A. Williams, of Atlanta; Mrs. T. H. Abbey, of Tampa, Fla., and five sons, Oby T. Brewer, secretary of George Mose Clothing Company; Caprice Brewer, vice president of the Atlanta Title and Trust Company; W. D. Brewer, Jr., L. S. Brewer, of Calatow, and T. J. Brewer; her mother, Mrs. T. E. Jackson, and two brothers, W. C. and J. M. Jackson, all of Birmingham, Ala.

POLISH CABINET BEATEN IN DIET BY 246-120 VOTE

WARSAW, Dec. 6.—(P)—The government went down in a decisive defeat tonight when the sejm, or diet, sustained a motion of lack of confidence by a vote of 246 to 120.

The vote followed a lengthy debate in which Premier Switalsky, for of ministers and numerous deputies participated. Announcement of the vote was received with tremendous cheering by the opposition. It was understood that the government would resign and would be reconstituted in a manner calculated to appease the opposition.

Antiquated Laws Hamper Justice, Hager Declares

There are not only too many laws on the books but some of them are so antiquated that they hinder the state in its prosecution of criminals, United States Attorney Clint W. Hager declared during the course of an address at the dinner given by Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity, at the Atlanta Athletic Club Thursday night.

There are more than 7,000,000 laws on the books, the United States attorney explained, although not all of them are enforced. In the latter are included laws prohibiting the use of bathtubs and the wearing of rubber heels.

Five laws in particular Mr. Hager cited as giving defendants an undue advantage over the state. He named: Permission of defendants to make unworn statements who with no danger of being indicted for perjury.

Unequal number of challenges allowed defendants.

Right of defendants, though indicted for conspiracy, to demand separate trials.

Tendency to restrict the power of the judge to that of a referee.

Right of a jury, instead of judge, to impose sentence.

Another call for a constitutional convention, Mr. Hager said, "where these problems shall be put before the people as issues, seems inevitable. By the people's vote convention delegates chosen by the people would be more of high standing and well informed on points of law. It would be up to such a body to reform judicial procedure in this state."

Only in the matter of an unequal division of challenges is the federal law disadvantageous to the prosecution, Mr. Hager added.

Catarrh Is Serious Handicap on Victim

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious disorders. Why? Science explains that Catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by Rhinologists and Throat Specialists to relieve the

Plans for Guidance Body For Industry Being Slowly Formulated at Washington

Julius Barnes, Chairman of Gathering, Announces His Intention To Proceed With Caution.

BY CLINTON COFFIN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Outlines of organization for a possible permanent council of guidance for American industry were being formulated slowly today after the recess of the national business survey conference begun by President Hoover.

Julius H. Barnes, named as chairman of that gathering, announced his intention to proceed with care and to interview the nation's business leadership generally. Notwithstanding this, the tentative program shaped after close of the session yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States appeared to call for the creation of a large assembly conference committee representing many business lines. A small executive group acting as a sort of second chamber of counsel is contemplated.

"The committee which the business conference asked the chairman to appoint will be considered this coming week," Barnes said today. "It is quite likely there will be named one larger conference committee based on trade association representation, and a smaller working committee, the members of which will be selected for their individual attainment and their wide knowledge of business affairs. This requires a little thought and study as to their field and their name."

Important Data.
He added that data given in the reports to the conference as to the outlook in individual industry was so important and extensive that much study would be required to complete its analysis. He indicated that additional material also was being assembled.

"Certain things stand out concerning the conference itself," Barnes continued. "First that it presented an extraordinary and comprehensive cross section of the whole fabric of American business represented by leaders who could speak with authority; second, that in taking up any possible slack in wages and employment an elasticity of new construction and maintenance is the chief factor, maintenance which means new equipment and construction which means not only expansion but improvement of mechanical production and distribution.
"Third, that this implies large capital expenditures for these purposes and this must be provided from industrial treasuries or most largely by borrowings for capital investment.
"Fourth, these borrowings depend upon the ability to obtain money at reasonable rates and in ready and adequate quantities.
This situation has developed rapidly in the last few weeks so that this situation is present. This is shown by the treasury refunding today of $325,000,000 at 3-1/8 per cent against its last borrowings at 4-7/8 per cent, not long ago. This is probably the most extraordinary change ever recorded in treasury operations between transactions.

Plenty of Capital.
"Fifth, that industry, in being assured of available capital, requires then only vision and courage to proceed. These qualities were clearly evidenced in the presentation by industrial leaders yesterday.

"Manifestly, confidence in the country's future and preparation for the constantly extending business, which inevitably comes from the activities of 120,000,000 energetic people warrants preparation for ultimately larger business.

"Industrial and business judgment approved immediate expenditures that cheapen production and distribution costs."
Though 70 of the business leaders who assembled yesterday were named by the conference chairman to meet privately after the main gathering had adjourned, the prolongation late into the night of the general session presented the smaller assembly from being effected.

From the conference membership designated it is expected that a large part of the new general council for the contemplated industrial council will be selected. Practically all the participants to the gathering left Washington today and further consultation prior to announcement of the organization will be undertaken at private meetings.

MRS. ANNIE LLOYD, FORMER ATLANTA, GRANTED DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(Special.)—
The separation decree she has sought for 18 months was won today by Mrs.
Annie Eleanor Lloyd, when supreme court Justice Aaron J. Levy directed Lieutenant Colonel Orin Cottrell
Lloyd to pay his wife $300 monthly alimony. In a hearing in Justice Levy's chambers, the jurist decided that Mrs. Lloyd, a former Atlanta, Ga., society girl, was justified in leaving her husband when she found he had a sweetheart in Chicago.
Mrs. Lloyd said that her husband, a business research expert, had skilfully seduced her from Chicago, and from there to other cities, when she tried to catch up with him and serve him with papers in her suit.
He abandoned her here in March,
1927, Mrs. Lloyd declared. She sued for divorce in Chicago, but he fled.
Mrs. Lloyd said. Her husband is worth $450,000 and had a $30,000 yearly income, Mrs. Lloyd stated.
Mrs. Lloyd gave her residence as the Albion Club for Women, in New York city.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Walter Damosch weaves selections from five great composers into a striking symphonic pattern where he conducts the orchestra in the General Electric hour to be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. coast-to-coast system tonight at 8 o'clock.

Michael Ivanovitch Glinka, whom Franz Liszt called the "prophet and patriarch" of Russian music, laid the foundation for the growth of a national school of music which bore illustrous fruit. The wealth of melody and strong national coloring of his oeuvre of "A Life for the Czar" will be illustrated in this program.

Guillaume Lekeu was a brilliant young Belgian composer who, like John Keats, the English poet, died as his work began to show the greatest promise. Mr. Damosch has selected his "Adagio for Strings."

An eight-minute talk on "Adventures in Science" by Floyd Gibbons, will be a feature of the hour.
The program follows:
Overture to "A Life for the Czar" — Glinka
Two Nocturnes — Debussy
Holidays — Liszt
Hungarian Rhapsody No. 1 — Liszt
Adagio for Strings — Lekeu
Bacchanale from "Samson et Delilah" — Saint-Saens

Musical shows of recent years contribute the ballads to be heard when Lorraine Taylor, soprano; Fred Waldner, tenor, and Josef Koestner's orchestra broadcast the Landryland Lyrics program from the N. B. C.
Chicago studios over WSB and a nationwide network tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

NEW MUSEUM WILL BE BUILT NEAR SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 6.—(A)—A museum of Chinese style architecture will be constructed on the federal government's "bamboo farm" on the Ogeechee road near here at an early date with funds from the estate of the late Barbour Lathrup for whom the farm was named.
Contract for the construction of the building, which will be of colored stuco with a Cuban tile roof, was awarded to George C. Ransom yesterday, and staking of a site was begun today.
Davis Fairchild and A. R. Lawton,
S. C. trustees for the Lathrup estate, yesterday accepted plans for the building, which will be 42 feet long and 24 feet wide, and announced letting of the contract.

GENERAL BULLARD SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Commander of Second Brigade of First Division suffers Heart Attack.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(A)—Major General Robert Lee Bullard, retired, commander of the Third American army corps during the World War, was seriously ill tonight at his apartment at the Hotel Adams as the result of a heart attack on Monday.
In a statement tonight his daughter, Miss Rose Bullard, said that although his condition was still serious, it had improved steadily since Monday, and that he appeared to be in no immediate danger.

The veteran warrior himself made light of his illness. Although unable to leave his bed, and ordered by doctors to remain absolutely quiet, he insisted on receiving visitors and answering queries as to his condition.

"I have had a little trouble with my heart," he said smilingly, adding that "the weather" probably would keep him in bed for a few days.
General Bullard is 68 years old, a veteran of the Indian wars and the Spanish-American War. He went to France in 1917 as brigadier general with the first division and led the American forces in their first engagement in the World War. As commander of the Third army corps at the second battle of the Marne he wrote the famous message, "We are going to counter-attack."

J. L. RICHARDSON, 60,

Plans for Guidance Body For Industry Being Slowly Formulated at Washington

Julius Barnes, Chairman of Gathering, Announces His Intention To Proceed With Caution.

BY CLINTON COFFIN, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Outlines of organization for a possible permanent council of guidance for American industry were being formulated slowly today after the recess of the national business survey conference begun by President Hoover.

Julius H. Barnes, named as chairman of that gathering, announced his intention to proceed with care and to interview the nation's business leadership generally. Notwithstanding this, the tentative program shaped after close of the session yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States appeared to call for the creation of a large assembly conference committee representing many business lines. A small executive group acting as a sort of second chamber of counsel is contemplated.

"The committee which the business conference asked the chairman to appoint will be considered this coming week," Barnes said today. "It is quite likely there will be named one larger conference committee based on trade association representation, and a smaller working committee, the members of which will be selected for their individual attainment and their wide knowledge of business affairs. This requires a little thought and study as to their field and their name."

Important Data. He added that data given in the reports to the conference as to the outlook in individual industry was so important and extensive that much study would be required to complete its analysis. He indicated that additional material also was being assembled.

"Certain things stand out concerning the conference itself," Barnes continued. "First that it is an extraordinary and comprehensive cross section of the whole fabric of American business represented by leaders who could speak with authority; second, that in taking up any possible slack in wages and employment an elasticity of new construction and maintenance is the chief factor, maintenance which means new equipment and construction which means not only expansion but improvement of mechanical production and distribution. "Third, that this implies large capital expenditures for these purposes and this must be provided from industrial treasuries or most largely by borrowings for capital investment. "Four, these borrowings depend upon the ability to obtain money at reasonable rates and in ready and adequate quantities. This situation has developed rapidly in the last few weeks so that this assurance is present. This is shown by the treasury refunding today of $325,000,000 at 3.18 per cent against its last borrowings at 4.78 per cent, not long ago. This is probably the most extraordinary change ever recorded in treasury operations between transactions."

Plenty of Capital.

"Fifth, that industry, in being assured of available capital, requires then only vision and courage to proceed. These qualities were clearly evidenced in the presentation by industrial leaders yesterday."

"Manifestly, confidence in the country's future and preparation for the constantly extending business, which inevitably comes from the activities of 120,000,000 energetic people warrants preparation for ultimately larger business."

"Industrial and business judgment approved immediate expenditures that cheapen production and distribution costs."

Though 70 of the business leaders who assembled yesterday were named by the conference chairman to meet privately after the main gathering had adjourned, the prolongation late into the night of the general session prevented the smaller assembly from being effected.

From the conference membership so designated it is expected that a large part of the new general committee for the contemplated industrial council will be selected. Practically all the members of the gathering left Washington today and further consultation prior to announcement of the organization will be undertaken at private meetings.

THE GUMPS—NOT SO GOOD

Housebroken

BY PAUL HERVEY FOX

INSTALLMENT XXX.

DEFEAT AND SURRENDER.

Bruce stepped gingerly into the dory. His weight sank it a little, and suddenly it seemed to him that the entire Atlantic ocean was pouring in through one of the seams near the gunwale.

The cold Maine water sloshed around his ankles. He scrambled out of the boat and, dismally waded ashore. Then he gave up. It was no use. He tried to stop thinking, and presently tried to stop thinking. A sharp sputter of sound like gunfire came to his ears from the southward. He looked up. Half a mile away, a long express cruiser, its bow half out of water with spray leaping before it, was dashing across the waters of the bay.

It was a number of yards away, shipping in silently now, before he recognized the man who stood up forward. It was Tom Davies!

Bruce shouted hoarsely. In another instant the cruiser had glided to a halt, rocking idly on the waters. Tom jumped ashore.

"I don't know whether you've dropped out of the sky, or the angels sent you," Bruce shouted. "But we're just in time! We can get there before the two-o'clock!"

"What are you talking about?" Tom's voice was brusque and hard. "Where is she?"

"Where is she?—I want to know!" "She left about an hour ago. I've been out of my mind trying to figure how to get off the island. Come on—no, I've got to get my things."

"Wait a minute! I want a little talk with you. I want a little talk with you."

Even in his excitement, Bruce noticed the strangeness of Tom's tone. "What's the matter?"

"So you fell in love with her, did you?"

How could Tom know that? But Bruce didn't stop to wonder now. "Yes, I'm in love, I guess. I'm crazy about her!"

"You're pretty cool to stand there and tell me that!"

The veins in Tom's forehead were knotted. His face had grown a dull, brick red.

"What's the matter with you any way?" Bruce demanded. "Are you off your head, too? Why shouldn't I tell you how I feel about Kathleen. Do you think you own her?"

"Eh? What's that?" Tom's jaw dropped. Suddenly he belched.

"Where's my wife? I'm talking about my wife!"

For a moment of stupefaction Bruce gazed at him. Then he suddenly howled with laughter.

"Don't be an ass! Your wife's all right—she's just left to go home to you. She's given up. You've won!"

"Where is she?"

"Over in Tenby by now. She's probably ready to take the two-o'clock."

Tom turned and yelled something to the two men in the speed boat. "Get your things!" he told Bruce. "No, I'll help you. We may get there in time. It's only a minute after two."

They ran up the hill, burst into the house. Bruce came out with half his clothes under his arm. Tom swung an empty suitcase in one hand, and a pair of shoes in the other.

"But see here," Bruce grasped as they hurried down. "What are you doing up here—and how did you get that boat—and a few other thousand things?"

I started yesterday," Tom explained as he ran. "This morning when I got off at the junction, I decided I wouldn't wait for two hours. I found this boat in the bay. The owner wasn't aboard—I brought his crew to take me over here, without even asking him."

They were on the cruiser now. The engines began to sputter, grew louder, became a roaring thunder of sound. Further talk was impossible. Bruce gazed through the windshield at the shores of Tenby. He was not even thinking of Tom's mistake. Tom himself had no need to ask questions to have further doubts. How could he have ever suspected Bruce in the first place? How could he have ever interpreted Kathleen's casual words in such unthinkable fashion?

He, too, looked at the shore. Suzanne was there, repentant, returning to him, in love with him still! Bruce had stowed away his belongings in his bags. Tom caught one of them. The instant the cruiser ran alongside the landing, they dashed down the street in the direction of the station. The town clock reported that it was two-o'clock.

When they arrived they were both winded. The station master was on the platform.

"Is the train on time today?" Tom gasped.

"Yes, she was on time."

"Just pulled out a moment ago."

Bruce grinned weakly. "Well, we did our best."

"Yes," said Tom dully, "we'll be in town by tomorrow night, any way."

"It doesn't really matter."

"No."

"We can send wires."

"That's right."

"Let's go somewhere and have a bit, and I'll tell you everything that's happened, as far as I can remember."

Tom chuckled unexpectedly.

"What amuses you?"

"I was just thinking about you. So you've finally decided to throw away your precious liberty! No more adventures! Nice little job in an insurance office! Bruce, this will make a man of you."

Bruce's face was somber. "I wouldn't mind any of those things. You can kid me if you want. I've come around to your way of thinking. What bothers me is she thinks I'm a bound for running off with Suzanne. She won't have anything to do with me."

"Just leave it to me!"

"Do you think you can do something? I know she likes you. She might listen to you," Bruce said.

"Ouch!" he ended suddenly as Tom squeezed his arm convulsively.

Then he, too, leaned forward and stared. In a rear room which they were just about to pass, they saw two figures sitting at a table. There was no one else in the dim, quiet room.

Tom strode forward and pulled the door open. He went down the length of the room. He noticed that Kathleen had been smiling. Suzanne's mouth trembled. She began to cry.

He looked around. Kathleen had disappeared. But the waitress, who was waiting through the glass window in the kitchen, was startled to see him take Suzanne in his arms and kiss her and hold her there.

"I'll never object to anything you do again, as long as you live," she said. "O, Tom, do you really love me still?"

Tom looked at this goddess with respect. But he was not astonished at her wisdom. What made his heart thump so violently was that she seemed to have no anger left in her at all, she seemed strangely calm.

"Kathleen—you ran away from me this morning—left me out there on the island!"

"O, I knew Capt. Jones would bring you here tomorrow morning."

"But you'd have been gone."

She didn't answer. He looked at her, noticed her smile.

"Look at me," he said. She kept her face averted. "I love you!"

"Hush! You mustn't talk like that. People are looking at us. That fat woman heard you."

"I love you!"

"Please be good, Bruce!"

"Then say you love me!"

"Of course, I do. You know that."

He murmured her name in a whisper that was bewildered and ecstatic. Suddenly he halted. "See here, you told me you were going to China!"

"Yes."

"Did you mean it?"

"It depends on you. Father is opening a branch there, and I thought with your experience you might like to go out for him."

"How you meant you'd go to China with me?"

"Bruce, don't you realize we're walking on a public street. Stop! Where are you taking me?"

"Some place where I can kiss you!" he said.

Maria Jeritza Again Victim of Rough Drama

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Drama about the wild and woolly west seems a trifle too rough for these festive days, at least, the Metropolitan Opera Company has found it so.

In the third mishap that has marked this season's revival of the Puccini-Belasco opera, "The Girl of the Golden West," Maria Jeritza was stabbed with a wooden knife, but in the excitement of the performance she wounded "Addio, Mia California."

It was near the end of the opera, when Maria Jeritza, playing the role of Minnie, was holding the irate men at bay and preventing the lynching of the outlaw hero, Dick Johnson. She knocked the pistol from the hand of one of the men, but in the excitement of the performance she lunged again with a wooden stage knife and dealt her a severe blow in the chest. She finished the performance, but took a curtain call in evident pain, leaning heavily on the arm of Lawrence Tibbett and Giovanni Martinelli. She was treated in her dressing room for bruises and skin abrasion, but declined the services of a physician.

A somewhat similar accident occurred during a performance in Brooklyn Tuesday night when Mme. Jeritza suffered a sharp blow on the hand from a stage gun, which temporarily crippled her as she tried to mount her horse. Tibbett, playing the sheriff, was struck on the nose by a falling ladder several nights ago, but was saved from serious injury by putting her hand used to build up his nose for the role.

GEORGIA HEALTH OFFICIALS SPEAK AT QUITMAN TODAY

QUITMAN, Ga., Dec. 6.—(Special).—Two county-wide health meetings will be held in Quitman Saturday, when Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, state health commissioner, and Dr. M. E. Winchester, of the state board of health, will make addresses on health problems, particularly malaria control. At these meetings medals and prizes will be awarded to school children in a county-wide essay contest on the cause and prevention of malaria.

Cuban Wins Honor Graduate Degree Diploma At The Southern Business College

Signal Honor Conferred Upon Manuel Castro, of Cuba.

The diploma for the complete Business Course given by the Southern Shorthand and Business University, to a graduate, is a splendid passport to a good position, but when that graduate has also won the diploma awarded by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools to those pupils of the Southern making an average grade of 90 per cent in all the subjects included in the Combined Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Typewriting Course, he has a distinctive advantage in applying for a position, because he is able to present credentials that but few, if any, of his competitors can offer.

Manuel Castro, of Havana, Cuba, is the fortunate young man, from our friendly little neighboring country, just beyond the borders of our own sunny land of Florida, who has been awarded both diplomas above referred to, and he made an average of 95 1-8 per cent.

While Mr. Castro has won a signal honor by the record he has made at the Southern, more important is the fact that he has made thorough preparation for business, and in the process of earning high grades, he has developed abilities that will be of more than incidental value to him in any position that he may accept.

Mr. Castro's appreciation of his school record is shown in his letter below, just received by the Southern: Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 22, 1929.

Mr. L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Mr. Arnold:

It affords me great pleasure to heartily thank you for the instruction and many courtesies extended me while I attended the well-known "SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE."

It is up to me to say that when I enrolled to take up a combined business course, I first felt a little despondent, but soon could notice it was improving rapidly, and it seemed to me that undoubtedly the best, easiest and most thorough systems of bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting were taught.

All members of the faculty are ideal, for, beside being experts in their line,

MANUEL CASTRO,
of Havana, Cuba, who has been awarded the Southern's diploma and also the diploma of the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools.

there is no end to the co-operation and their efforts to aid the student in every way possible.

As a result of this training and help of the SOUTHERN, I expect I'll be able to get me a job anywhere, and feel capable of performing it efficiently.

Finally, I am ready to recommend the SOUTHERN to young men and young women, who contemplate taking a business course—the system is unexcelled and the instruction given is thorough. Why not enroll at once? I again thank you and the other members of the teaching staff.

Yours very truly,
MANUEL CASTRO.

Winter term opens December 30 to January 6, inclusive. Get in your application for entrance as early as possible. Catalog free. Address L. W. Arnold, President, 86 Whitehall Street, S. W., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

154 MEMBERS ADDED TO JUNIOR CHAMBER

Total Membership of Organization Now Declared in Excess of 900.

Winding up a drive for new members which began last Monday and ended Friday night, the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced addition of 154 new members. The total membership now is in excess of 900, according to Ed Robinson, who served as chairman of the membership committee during the campaign.

Luther Turner, with 29 new members to his credit, was winner in the competitive activity and for his efforts he is to be presented a silk lounging robe. Luther Alverson, second, will be given a pair of shoes.

Announcement was made at the close of the campaign that plans for the annual Christmas tree which the junior chamber sponsors will be completed at the next luncheon meeting. The chamber hopes to increase its gifts to needy children from 50, made last year, to 75.

HARD-SURFACING OF HIGHWAY NO. 30 ASKED BY CITIZENS

The hard-surfacing of state highway No. 30 as part of the state highway board's 1930 program was urged by a delegation of citizens representing counties along the route which appeared before the highway board Friday.

The route gives a connection between Savannah and Columbus and is a dirt road for almost its entire length. It goes by Claxton, Lyons, Mount Vernon, McRae, Abbeville, Cordele and Americus.

Members of the delegation pointed out that there are no paved roads crossing Georgia in an east and west direction. All paved trans-state highways run north and south, it was said. Their construction was guided by the Florida boom and its popularity as a resort.

A delegation from Oglethorpe county, headed by Hamilton McWhorter, member of the house of representatives, appeared to urge that there should be a paved road between Augusta and Atlanta, and that to pave the route via Athens would involve the expenditure of much less money than other routes.

They proposed to have the paving start at the Richmond county line, and to go by way of Thomson and Washington to Clarke-Oglethorpe county line. They pointed out that there are now several miles of paving east and west of Washington, from the Clarke-Oglethorpe line into Athens, and from the Richmond-Columbia line into Augusta, leaving two gaps which must be paved.

YOUTH WHO LEAPED OFF MOVING TRAIN DIES OF INJURIES

B. D. Hitchcock, 20, of Hiram, died at a local hospital Friday morning from injuries received Thursday night when he jumped from a moving freight train at Hiram.

Police state that young Hitchcock caught a ride upon the train about 10 miles from the depot, but that it would stop at the depot. When it failed to do so, he jumped and was thrown 20 or more feet. He suffered serious injuries that brought death Friday.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hitchcock, of Hiram, and a brother. The body was taken to Dallas Friday and funeral services will be held there today.

Dr. M. L. Duggan Heads Body on Enrichment Of Adult Life in State

Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, has been appointed president of a Georgia commission on the enrichment of adult life, on which 39 leaders of the state have been requested to serve. It was announced at his office Friday.

The commission is being formed under the auspices of the National Education Association, of Washington, D. C., in order to promote plans for a wiser use of extra or leisure hours. Similar commissions, it is understood, will serve in other states.

Others who have been requested to serve are: J. M. Parks, vice president, superintendent of schools, Cedarhurst; Kyle T. Alford, secretary, Macon; Miss Gladys Moultrie; Mrs. R. T. Aderhold, College Park; Mrs. J. L. Beeson, Milledgeville; D. G. Bickers, Savannah; P. N. Bibins, Milledgeville; John T. Boufford, Atlanta; Mrs. A. H. Brenner, Augusta; Dr. M. L. Brittain, Atlanta; Dr. G. P. Butler, Augusta; Ely Callaway, LaGrange; Percy Chestner, Macon; Royal Daniel, Quitman; T. J. Dempsey, Jr., Jackson; E. G. Elean, Bainbridge; Mark Etheridge, Macon; John Harris, Folkston; Miss Mamie Hunt, Macon; H. Reid Hunter, Atlanta; Jerome Jones, Atlanta; C. A. Keith, Marietta; Eugene Talmadge, Atlanta; Charles A. Lawrence, Buena Vista; R. D. Love, Lafayette; Mrs. J. D. Miller, Atlanta; R. M. Monts, Statesboro; W. A. McKenna, Macon; Joseph Kyle Orr, Atlanta; R. H. Powell, Valdosta; R. F. Quinn, Rome; Miss Maude Rhodes, Atlanta; J. Harold Saxon, Atlanta; H. T. Singleton, Edison; Dr. Andrew M. Soule, Athens; J. C. Thomas, Adel; Mrs. Clara Varnedoe, Claxton; Knox Walker, Dublin; Kendall Weisiger, Atlanta; Jere A. Wells, Atlanta, and F. F. Rowe, LaGrange.

U. S. Attorney Scoffs At Threats Against Life Of Columbus Financier

The United States attorney's office is not taking seriously alleged threats against the life of Roy E. Martin, Columbus capitalist, recently swindled out of $200,000 at a Canton, Ohio, race track. Martin says he was told to halt his efforts to locate the swindlers.

"They are not going to bother Martin," said Assistant United States Attorney Hal Lindsey, to whom Martin reported that he had received a series of warnings through underworld channels.

The government, however, is continuing an international search for the three men who got Martin's $200,000. The three men sought, according to names furnished by Martin, are Ed Ellis and Clyde Smith, alleged former henchmen of Floyd Woodward, and John J. Darfield, until recently an Atlanta firm salesman.

As a result of operations by a private detective, Martin recently recovered $50,000 in Birmingham, former home of Ellis.

FAIR GRID FAN, ILL, EXECUTES REVENGE ON JAILER

Red and Black Doctor Must Don White and Gold

By Madame Pompon.

MISS EPSIE DALLIS, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dallis, is a great football fan. She has never missed a game since she was old enough to know that football was a game at all of any kind. She is at present in a sanatorium rapidly recuperating and is much inclined to drench her convalescent pillow with tears over her disappointment at missing today's great tussle.

She pleaded with her physician; she tried in every way to convince him that she was quite well enough to attend the game on a stretcher. He insists that she wasn't.

"Well," she argued, "if I'm so sick as all that you oughtn't to go either; you ought to stay here with me."

It happens that Miss Dallis' physician is as great a football fan as she is—which is saying a great deal, only he worships the Red and Black of Georgia rather than the White and Gold of Tech. Miss Dallis planned and executed a delicate revenge. She very ceremoniously presented him with half of her white and golden trophies. She exacted the promise from him he would carry them to the Tech-Georgia game. At last, she insisted, her flowers ought to be there even if she remained at home.

"Besides it is no more than he deserves," she says, "having kept me from going, to be made bear my colors instead of his own."

IT'S A CHEERING sight to see lovely Mrs. Eugene Harrington on her way to work every morning wrapped in her big fur coat, driving her own car, with her favorite dog looking pertly out of the car window. Her success as an editor is growing more and more interesting to her friends daily. Some time ago she joined the staff of the Southern, a sort of local "spur," a modified "Town and Country" translated into Atlanta language. A little later she was made editor-in-chief of the publication which is a social, artistic and sporting monthly devoted to the interests of all who enjoy these subjects.

Mrs. Harrington admits she finds as much pleasure in editing as she ever did in supervising the productions of the Junior League Follies. Now that the December issue is out she would, she feels, be all set to enjoy Christmas but for the fact that the January number must follow it so soon.

A number of well-known Atlanta people are contributors to The Southern. Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., Lamar Trotti, Runa Erwin, Louise Thomas, Julia Fleet and Frances Howard, who is now London and who is lovingly called "Frisco" to distinguish her from her Atlanta cousin of the same name.

Some interesting portraits of Atlanta people are reproduced in the December Southern. Earl Vreeman's portrait of Neil Freeman, for instance; Charles Naegele's portrait of Mrs. Robert F. Maddox and her daughter; three of Miss Kate Edwards' delightful white point portraits of Atlanta children; of Henry Peeples, Jr., Floyd McRae, Jr., and Sara Hastie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Hastie, of Charleston, S. C.

ATLANTA WOMEN have cultivated a great many things from time to time—mushrooms, strawberries, raspberries, rabbits, pigeons, peacocks, canary birds, dogs and cats. But an original and charming north side matron is now busy cultivating snails, which is de-

I DON'T MIND DISHWASHING... WITH RINSO

NEITHER DO I. THESE RICH SUDS SOAK THE GREASE RIGHT OFF

Rinsol

Wash dishes this way

See them gleam! All cleaning easier, too. It's almost fun! You just soak the dishes, pots and pans in Rinsol suds. Then you rinse in hot water... and they dry clear without wiping.

So quick—so easy! The grease loosens, floats off by itself. No grit, either. Just try Rinsol for painted woodwork, tubs, basins, linoleum! A compact, granulated soap—one cupful of Rinsol gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight soap. Thick, soapy suds—even in hardest water! Get the BIG household package of Rinsol and use it on washday, too—for whiter clothes without scrubbing.

Miss Thelma Sulis, of Medford, Mass., Will Wed Fred Lesh Jacobs, of This City

Miss Thelma Sulis, of Medford, Mass., whose engagement is announced today to Fred Lesh Jacobs, son of Mrs. Maude K. Jacobs and Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, of this city. Miss Sulis is visiting Mrs. Jacobs and her daughter, Miss Harriet Jacobs, at their home on Montclair drive and is numbered among the most popular December visitors in Atlanta. Photograph by J. T. Holloway.

Formal announcement is made today by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler, of Medford, Mass., of the engagement of their niece, Miss Thelma Sulis, to Fred Lesh Jacobs, of Atlanta, son of Mrs. Maude K. Jacobs and Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, both of this city. The announcement is of wide social interest in southern and eastern social circles, where the families of Miss Sulis and Mr. Jacobs are leaders in education, civic and social activities. Miss Sulis is an unusually attractive young woman and possesses a most gracious and charming personality. She was educated at Miss Pierce's school in Boston, Mass., and has traveled extensively, having spent much of her time in California, where she enjoys wide popularity in the larger cities of that state.

The bride-to-be is numbered among Atlanta's most popular December visitors, being the guest of Mrs. Jacobs and Miss Harriet Jacobs at their home on Montclair drive. Throughout the forthcoming holidays Miss Sulis will be honored at a series of social gayeties and will be an interesting figure attending the gay events at the clubs and hotels.

Mr. Jacobs is a representative of aristocratic South Carolina and Massachusetts family, his paternal grandparents, the late Dr. and Mrs. William Plummer Jacobs, being pioneer settlers of Clinton, S. C. The late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lesh, of Boston, Mass., were the groom-elect's maternal grandparents, both being members of New England's leading families. The groom-elect's father, Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, is president of Oglethorpe University and is prominently identified with the advancement of education in the south.

The groom-to-be is a popular member of the junior class at Georgia School of Technology, where he belongs to the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Miss Wall Weds J. C. Smith, Jr., At Home Ceremony

A marriage of widespread interest and one marked by impressive beauty and simplicity was that of Miss Amorette Wall and J. C. Smith, Jr., which took place last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wall, on Stovall street.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of palms and ferns by the Rev. Hugh Latimer. The home was effectively decorated throughout with ferns and cut flowers and lighted tapers.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Pauline Collins sang "Oh, Promise Me," and immediately after the ceremony, "I Promise." Miss Martha Collins played the wedding march.

The first to enter was the bride, Miss Jewel Butler, who was gowning in a lovely model of green crepe. The groomsmen were B. H. Reynolds, Miss Lois Wall, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore purple fall crepe. Mr. Smith had as his best man, George Yancy.

The lovely bride, wearing a gown of French blue fall crepe, and a corsage bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies, entered with her father, Mr. M. L. Wall. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held, after which the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip.

DANGER LIES IN REDUCING DIETS

Unless They Have Bulk, Constipation Is Inevitable

Today thousands of young women and girls are wondering why they are so miserable as they diet to reduce.

The trouble is that just as the new diets lack roughage which is necessary to clean the intestinal system. The symptoms are headaches, "gone" feelings and bad complexions. If allowed to continue constipation with its evils occurs.

By including Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet, you keep fit as you take off weight because you prevent constipation.

ALL-BRAN does not add fat to the body. It just sweeps the intestinal tract clean of poisonous wastes. No pills nor drugs can play the part of ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet. Their dose has to be constantly increased and harmful results often follow.

Miss Lester Weds Mr. Peek At Lovely Church Ceremony

Characterized by exquisite beauty and simplicity was the marriage last evening of Miss Jinnie Maud Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Lester, to Duncan Gray Peek, which was solemnized at the Gordon Street Baptist church at 8 o'clock, with Rev. W. H. Faust officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns and tall floor baskets filled with white chrysanthemums. In the choir loft and on each side of the altar were cathedral candelabra holding burning white tapers. The pews reserved for the members of the families of the bride and bridegroom were designated by burning white tapers in white ribbon bows.

Preceding the entrance of the bride and groom, the church choir sang "The Song of Solomon" and "The Song of David." The bride and groom were accompanied by Miss Helen Schaid and Homer J. Faulkner, who possess an exquisite tenor voice. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Frances Lester, sister of the bride, who entered alone and down opposite aisles. They were followed by Miss Jewel Lester, sister of the bride, and Lyman Hilliard. The bride, Miss Frances Lester, sister of the bride, who entered alone and down opposite aisles. ## Ziegfeld's Girls Give Rare Treat In Film Success

How girls make good under the banner of the great glorifier, Florenz Ziegfeld, was answered to our complete satisfaction at Keith's Georgia theater Friday morning, when "Glorifying the American Girl" was shown there in preview. Scores of stunningly beautiful girls in the singing and dancing ensembles feature the production.

This producer's extravaganzas outshine those of any other, in the supreme artistic taste which accompanies his popularization of pulchritude. The revue scenes are too beautiful to bear description and they alone are well worth the price of two admission tickets.

The romantic plot of the movie itself is not up to the high standard of the musical and dancing numbers. Although Mary Eaton, the leading lady and premiere danseuse, in the last word in sweetness, Edward Crandall, as the quasi-hero is far from appealing. In fact, the whole casting and acting of the story is far from convincing. The love affair is well enough done, but the male lead causes few feminine heart flutters.

One of the many unusual features of the photoplay is the reproduction of an actual Ziegfeld first night audience entering the theater, with tickets selling as high as $27.50. With Norman Brokenshire, famous radio announcer, at the mike in the foyer, many New York notables are identified as they enter. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Ziegfeld, Adolph Zukor, Otto Kahn, Mayor and Mrs. Jimmy Walker, Ring Lardner, Noah Beery and Texaco.

Eddie Cantor does a comedy skit in the picture, Rudy Vallee croons in the approved Vallee fashion, and Helen Morgan gives us all the wiles with a blues song.

THE OUTBREAK OF WAR BETWEEN GERMANY AND FRANCE ON AUGUST 3, 1914, PLACED THE LITTLE KINGDOM OF BELGIUM, WHICH LAY PARTLY BETWEEN THE WARRING NATIONS, IN AN UNCOMFORTABLE POSITION, ALTHOUGH THE GREAT POWERS, INCLUDING GERMANY, HAD GUARANTEED HER NEUTRALITY.

The Story of the World War The Great Powers and Neutral Belgium

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON THE LAST DAY OF JULY, 1914, SIR EDWARD GREY, BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER, ASKED FRANCE AND GERMANY TO STATE WHAT ATTITUDE EACH OF THEM WOULD ASSUME TOWARD BELGIUM IN CASE OF WAR. FRANCE'S RESPONSE WAS THAT SHE WOULD RESPECT BELGIUM'S NEUTRALITY. GERMANY REPLIED THAT SHE COULD NOT ANSWER AT THE TIME.

GERMANY COULD HAVE ANSWERED THE QUESTION, BUT NOT WITHOUT REVEALING HER PLAN OF CAMPAIGN. LONG AGO HER HIGH COMMAND HAD ADOPTED AND PERFECTED A PLAN FOR LAUNCHING AN ATTACK UPON FRANCE THROUGH BELGIUM TO AVOID THE STRONG FRENCH FORKS OF THE FRANCO-GERMAN BORDER. IT WAS NOW GERMANY'S INTENTION TO USE THAT PLAN.

AUGUST 2, 1914, THE GERMAN MINISTER AT BRUSSELS DEMANDED THAT BELGIUM PERMIT THE FREE PASSAGE OF GERMAN ARMIES THROUGH HER TERRITORY. KING ALBERT REJECTED THE GERMAN OFFER OF INDEMNITY AND COURAGEOUSLY DECLARED THAT HE WOULD DEFEND HIS COUNTRY AGAINST INVASION.

Styles by ANETTE Paris—New York.

IT'S SWAGGER!

It will be difficult to find a better way to make your new frock of black satin crepe all the truly smart women are wearing, than Style No. 103.

It combines the two surfaces beautifully, so as to emphasize the moulded bodice and neckline which employs the dull surface. The long-fitted sleeve uses the dull surface with shiny crepe cuffs.

An applied band at left of bodice in the shiny crepe, terminates in collar and youthful scarf, with jade green novelty crepe border.

It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20. It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It is very simple to make and the saving is remarkable.

Woolen in Spanish red tones is sportive in diagonal weave used for circular skirt, applied band, collar, scarf, sleeve cuffs and belt with hoar and sleeves of dress of plain feather-weight woolen in matching shade.

Pattern price is 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

We suggest that when you send for pattern, you inclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our new Fashion Magazine.

BLEASE, HEFLIN GRANTED RIGHT OF IMMUNITY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Congressional immunity today was decided to be more powerful than a District of Columbia grand jury subpoena.

Justice Peyton Gordon, youngest member of the District of Columbia supreme bench, who was called upon to decide the question after Senators Blease, of South Carolina, and Hefflin, of Alabama, had refused to heed a jury summons, ruled today that they were immune from arrest for contempt.

The senators were called upon to relate what they had been told about the case of Arthur Scrivener, Washington detective, whose death under mysterious circumstances three years ago was held to be a suicide. The case was recently revived and is now under grand jury investigation.

Judge Gordon announced his decision after the grand jury had submitted a report on Hefflin's failure to appear. He said that the constitution gave senators and representatives immunity from arrest while in session and that the only step the court could take in the case was to order the arrest of Hefflin and Blease.

"They are not subject to such action," Gordon said.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

THE GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Scheme as you will, as like as not, The unforeseen will spoil the plot.

The best of plans will sometimes fail. Probably you have found that out. I know I have. So have Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy. Reddy hadn't had a doubt in his mind that within a very short time he would have one of those turkeys. From his hiding-place he could see them slowly working up toward the tree where they were in the habit of roosting. They were getting toward shadow-time. Reddy stood along behind an old wall until he was as near as he could get to those turkeys. All he was waiting for now was the sound of that dog barking on the trail of Mrs. Reddy as she led him away. He waited and waited. There was no sound. He couldn't see the barnyard from where he was, so he didn't dare move toward those turkeys. What could have happened? Still he waited, growing more and more impatient.

Suddenly there was the sound of big wings. The big gobbler had flown up in the apple tree. One by one all the other turkeys flew up. There was to be no turkey dinner that night. If ever there was a disgusted fox in all this Great World, it was Reddy Fox. And, of course, he blamed Mrs. Reddy. Somehow Mrs. Reddy had failed. She must have. He wished then that he had chosen to go lead the dog away.

Reddy clared hungrily up at the turkeys. There was a lot of low talk among them. There was a lot of shifting positions to make themselves comfortable; and there wasn't a thing that Reddy could do. Finally he stole back the way he had come. Mrs. Reddy was waiting for him. She was as disappointed a look on her face as he did on his.

"What are you doing here?" snapped Reddy.

"Waiting for you," replied Mrs. Reddy meekly.

"What happened?" asked Reddy. "I waited and waited for the sound of that dog and I waited in vain."

"I know it," replied Mrs. Reddy. "You see, although I hurried as fast as I could, by the time I got around the corner of the barn, that dog had gone in the barn and he didn't come out. There wasn't a thing I could do. And then the farmer came out of the house, so there was nothing for me then but to dodge out of sight. It was just our hard luck. But the turkeys are still there and we can try again."

"Yes," said Reddy, "the turkeys are still there. There is nothing else to do that I can see."

"I suppose you're right," grumbled Reddy. "Well, let's go hunt for those mice. My stomach is so empty that I've got to have something in it pretty soon."

Now, there is one thing about the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows that we humans might profit by. They don't waste time thinking about disappointments. They have so many of them that perhaps they are used to them. Reddy and Mrs. Reddy went to hunt mice and said no more about their disappointment in not having a turkey dinner. And they planned to try the same scheme again. It had proved a failure this time, but the next time they might have better luck.

practical Mrs. Reddy, "and then try again tomorrow. There is nothing else to do that I can see."

"I suppose you're right," grumbled Reddy. "Well, let's go hunt for those mice. My stomach is so empty that I've got to have something in it pretty soon."

Now, there is one thing about the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows that we humans might profit by. They don't waste time thinking about disappointments. They have so many of them that perhaps they are used to them. Reddy and Mrs. Reddy went to hunt mice and said no more about their disappointment in not having a turkey dinner. And they planned to try the same scheme again. It had proved a failure this time, but the next time they might have better luck.

right up in that tree until morning. Now what are we going to do?"

"Go hunt meadow mice," replied Reddy.

"What happened?" asked Reddy. "I waited and waited for the sound of that dog and I waited in vain."

"I know it," replied Mrs. Reddy. "You see, although I hurried as fast as I could, by the time I got around the corner of the barn, that dog had gone in the barn and he didn't come out. There wasn't a thing I could do. And then the farmer came out of the house, so there was nothing for me then but to dodge out of sight. It was just our hard luck. But the turkeys are still there and we can try again."

"Yes," said Reddy, "the turkeys are still there. There is nothing else to do that I can see."
